

U. S. NOT TO MEDIALTE

2 MORE MEETINGS AND FARMERS CAN MERGE, SAYS WILL

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 17.—Tuesday's papers all have the story about some bird down in Africa that digs a hole in the river bank, fills it with fruit, then lets the thing set till it's a bout a "whoopie." And the story was told by a missionary.

Must have been one of Bishop Cannon's men down there finding out the wet birds from the dry, so they could protect the Democratic party.

The new farm board met yesterday and they haven't been organized long enough to make their first blunder till wheat went up 20 cents. Two more meetings and the farmer will be prominent enough to merge.

Yours,
WILL.

PA NEW OBSERVES

These cool nights are very pleasant ones for those who are unable to sleep well when it is hot, but they are not brining the corn along very fast. It takes not sweltering nights to make the corn grow, farmers tell us.

Those who argue that the removal of the Rosena dam will take all the water out of the Neslemack, may have been amazed to find the old stream still there this morning. In real dry weather, the bank of the stream are always exposed near the East Washington street bridge, anyhow, so Pa New can't see where it makes any difference.

Another rainless day is in sight, much to the delight of the farmers, who are now busy with their harvesting.

The city will be the guests of post-office clerks from all sections of the state next Sunday and Monday. Some 250 delegates and their wives are expected to be in the city when delegates and their wives are expected to be in the city when the opening session occurs. New Castle's own post-office clerks will act as hosts and endeavor to show them the city.

Many in the Pa New realm listened in on the boat race between the victorious Tom Green and the Betsy Ann of the upper Ohio staged last evening between Cincinnati and New Richmond, O. a course of 20 miles. Reception was good and those who heard it said the announcer resembled one at a prize fight, so close and exciting was the race. The Betsy was defeated by some 10 feet.

A great number of young New Castle boys took advantage of the fact that the water was new and runs over the Rosena Furnace dam, and a great many spent the morning fishing from the old structure.

Boys playing with matches caused another fire alarm yesterday afternoon. Parents should be careful about keeping matches where children can get them. A number of fires have been started here lately from this cause, and fortunately no fatalities have resulted.

From the number of homes that have been given a new coat of paint in this vicinity this spring, millions of gallons of paint must have been used. Looks like the paint selling business should have taken a boom.

New Castle Recreation Board has certainly carried out an excellent project in the construction of the tennis courts on Boyles field. They are occupied the entire day long, indicating the need that existed in this city.

Daily Weather Report

Weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at nine o'clock this morning furnished by U. S. Weather Observer E. J. Johnson at the New Castle Water Co. pump station follow:
Maximum temperature, 84.
Minimum temperature, 53.
Precipitation, .01.

United States May Arbitrate Dispute Of Soviets-China

American Mediation Sentiment Growing In Dispute Over Chinese Seizures

CHINA HAS BIG MILITARY FORCE

Generally Believed That Armed Clashes Will Be Avoided; Hope For Settlement

By ALFRED MEYER
International News Service Staff

SHANGHAI, July 17.—The United States may be asked to mediate the dispute between China and Soviet Russia growing out of the seizures of the Chinese Eastern Railway by China.

China's reply to the Soviet ultimatum is conciliatory in tone. While it is generally believed that an armed clash will be averted, Nanking, the seat of the Nationalist government, is nervous and there was a feeling of mixed anxiety and tension in Shanghai.

Following the despatch of the Nationalist government's answer to the Chinese ultimatum reports were received from Harbin that the Russian Soviets were concentrating cavalry upon the Manchurian frontier.

Sentiment Growing.
Sentiment in favor of American mediation was said to be growing because, under the old front assumed by Nationalist officials, there is uneasiness. It is feared in some quarters that Soviet Russia might take aggressive military action.

President Chiang Kai Shek declared that the Chinese Eastern Railway seizure "was nothing unusual" inasmuch as Soviet Russia had already expressed the wish to return the railroad to China.

The Chinese president added that, if Soviet Russia respects the sovereignty of China, the Nanking government will conclude treaties and resume diplomatic relations with Moscow on the basis of absolute equality and reciprocity. He declared that "China's hour of salvation has arrived, rendering imperative the rehabilitation of the country."

China's real strength, he said, lies not in military force but in a united front at home.

NATIONAL REGULATION OF BUS LINES LOOMS

By HARRY WARD
International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The alarming increase in the number of motor bus accidents has stressed the need for federal regulatory supervision over a transportation system that is growing by leaps and bounds.

Congressional leaders and members of the interstate commerce commission indicated today that the time has arrived when legislation should be enacted to regulate the bus transportation that has had a mushroom growth in recent years.

Apparently many of the present bus concerns operate over the public highways with defective vehicles, endangering not only the lives of passengers but other users of the highways.

"Wildcat" have also entered the business and have worked injury to regular and responsible bus lines, by cutting prices and because they are financially irresponsible and use reprehensible practices.

Prior to March 2, 1926, state regulatory bodies generally had assumed, in the absence of any federal legislation, regulatory control over the operations of motor busses and motor trucks engaged in interstate commerce, and interstate operators were required to conform with the laws and regulations of the states in or through which they operated.

On that date the United States Supreme Court handed down decisions holding that state regulatory bodies could not restrict the operation of motor busses of motor trucks engaged in interstate commerce where such regulation was not primarily with a view to safety or to conservation of highways.

No regulation has been exercised over interstate commerce by motor busses or trucks not used in terminal service in connection with rail transportation since the decisions were given. Since then interstate motor vehicle operations started all over the country.

A number of bills providing for the regulation of interstate bus operation has been introduced in congress in the last two or three sessions, but each has failed of passage.

East Side Man Will Fly Over City Thursday; Is Now Licensed Flier

Frank H. Johnston To Drop Flag For Superintendent Of Plant

Johnston Oldest Student To Take Up Flying In Two States

On Thursday morning at 11:30 o'clock, daylight savings time, Frank H. Johnston of East Hazel street will fly over this city in a plane and will present a flag to the superintendent of the New Castle works of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company by means of dropping it from the plane during the flight, he announces today.

Mr. Johnston, who is 51 years of age, is a licensed aviator, having recently completed his necessary number of hours and training, and he will make his flight tomorrow as a sort of celebration. He is the oldest man in Pennsylvania or Ohio to take up flying, but he has carried his work to success and is enthused over flying. He trained as a pilot at the Bernard flying school.

Johnston has been a pioneer in many lines. He was one of the first auto drivers in the city, he was the first in radio experimentation here, and has been interested in all lines of modern progress.

"I feel safer in an aeroplane than driving my auto along through the traffic on the street," he said.

He said that all arrangements had been made for the flight on Thursday and he expects to take a view of New Castle from the air and drop the flag to the mill superintendent at 11:30 o'clock.

PLANS TEST FLIGHT NEW YORK TO ALASKA

By HOMER H. METZ
International News Service Staff

NEW YORK, July 17.—What may be the forerunner of regular commercial flights between New York City and Alaska and the Far East will be attempted on Friday by Capt. Ross G. Hoyt of the United States Army.

Captain Hoyt, according to an announcement made to International News Service today, will hop off from Mitchell Field, L. I., on Friday for a practical test flight to Alaska.

To Test Possibilities
Technically the flight is being staged by the Army Air Department for the purpose of testing the efficiency and adaptability of long range army pursuit planes but it is also a practical test to prove the feasibility of commercial flying to the Orient.

Piloting a Curtiss Hawk pursuit plane powered by a Conqueror 600-horse power motor, Captain Hoyt expects to reel off an average speed of approximately 150 miles an hour.

He will leave Mitchell Field about 2:30 in the afternoon and will make his first stop at Minneapolis, 1,030 miles away, at 10 o'clock that night. After refueling, he will hop off from Minneapolis an hour later and fly to Alberta, Canada, 1,100 miles away, where he hopes to arrive at 7 o'clock Saturday morning.

Refueling once more at Edmonton, he will hop for White Horse, Yukon, another 1,100 mile flight. He is due to arrive at White Horse at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and from there he will hop to Fairbanks, a distance of 500 miles. The last leg of the

Uncle Sam Not Likely To Accept Mediation Role

Nations Having Relations With Russia Must Take Action

WOULD PUT U. S. IN UNIQUE PLACE

Would Be Tantamount To Recognition Of Soviet Government

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, July 17.—

While the American government would like to see the Chinese-Russian dispute over China's seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway amicably settled by arbitration, it feels the efforts toward conciliation should be made by nations having diplomatic relations with both China and Russia.

The United States does not recognize Russia and should it accept the role of arbiter and exchange notes with the Moscow government, State Department officials explained, it would be placed in a position tantamount to de facto recognition of that country. The likelihood the Washington government would accept the role of arbiter was considered extremely remote.

Steam Shovel Is Under To Tear Out Remainder Of Dam

Rapid Progress Being Made In Ripping Out Northern Side Of Dam Today

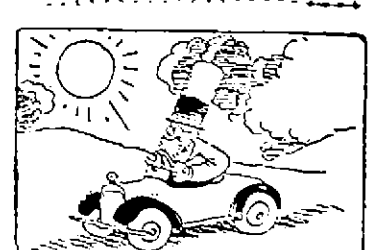

City Engineer F. F. Miller secured the services of the steam shovel which had been used in digging the excavation for the Lawrence Auto company addition today, and the task of tearing out what remained of the old Rosena dam is progressing rapidly.

The steam shovel, which is mounted on a huge auto truck, was wheeled into place late this morning, and a short time had torn off the boards on the top of the dam. The bed of the stream above the dam is also being dredged out by the shovel.

The big clam shell bucket had little trouble in getting hold of the planks and ripping them off, taking up where the blasters had left off yesterday morning. The way the work was progressing today, it was indicated that it is entirely practical to tear out the biggest part of the dam by this method.

The water level in the stream was lowered almost a half foot by noon, after the steam shovel had gotten in its work.

There is a large, not organized, with members by the score, and saying it is not a task, it has no rules now, it is a lodge that can be joined by any driving club, and should be called, it seems to me, the Fender Bender's Club. The fender bender parks his car, with lots of space to spare, but does he use a little sense, or take one little care? He does it not, but simply aims to hit the curb perhaps, and scrapes the fender, crumples it, off other driving clubs. Oh could I catch these careless lads, and lock them on the back, my praise would ring throughout the town, for many a day and week. For fender benders are a pest, you will agree with me, and should be socked, thwarted, the snoot, the weather's ninety-three.

Victor Berger Struck By Car

Former Socialist Congressman Is Probably Fatally Hurt

FEAR HIS SKULL HAS BEEN FRACTURED

(International News Service)
MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 17.—Run down by a street car, Victor L. Berger, former congressman from Wisconsin and nationally prominent Socialist, today was in a critical condition.

Taken to the Emergency hospital, he was found to have suffered a possible fracture, internal injuries and scalp wounds.

The accident occurred while he was attempting to cross a street two blocks from his home here. On account of his age—69—it was feared he may not recover.

Berger was the first Socialist to sit in congress. He was elected in 1910 and since then has served five terms. He was chosen in three elections before congress seated him in 1913, the delay having been gained by opponents who charged he opposed the United States' part in the war.

Sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment in Leavenworth on charges of obstructing the war, Berger served none of them, the federal court of appeals holding that the ruling of Judge K. M. Landis was preposterous. The case against him was based principally on editorials in the Milwaukee Leader, of which he is editor and publisher. He was one of the organizers of the Socialist party in America.

Seven-Coach Special Conveys Penns. Employees From Ashtabula

PROGRAM OF SPORTS FEATURE AFTERNOON

Nearly five hundred employees of the Erie and Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania railroad and their families came to New Castle this morning aboard a seven-coach special train from Ashtabula for their annual outdoor frolic at Cascade Park. Others are expected to drive to the city and a throng of at least 1,500 is anticipated by the time activities are at their best this afternoon.

When the picnic special pulled into the West Side depot of the company this morning, the Pennsylvania Band struck up martial airs as a welcome to those who were coming to spend the day. Directing the band was H. M. Culbertson. The band is scheduled to play an important part in the program this afternoon.

A basket dinner was served in the grove at noon and following that a sports program got under way. Featuring the entertainment will be a baseball game between Ed Fisher's team and S. E. "Lefty" Parks' aggregation at 3:30. Ely A. Fenton, supervising agent of the division, will umpire.

Special street cars conveyed the picnic delegation to the park in record time today and will return them to the West Side depot in time for their departure tonight. The special will leave for Ashtabula at 7 o'clock. Eastern Standard time. Necessary stops along the route will be made.

ULTIMATUM REPLY SENT BY CHINESE TO SOVIET RUSSIA

tone, is interpreted here as merely a preliminary reply, begging for time to discuss the dispute and forestalling drastic action by the Soviet government.

Full Reply Later. The communication states a full reply will be made as soon as the complete text of the Russian ultimatum is received in Nanking.

It is learned from official sources that the Soviets will make no reply to this note, but will await the Chinese government's complete answer, which is expected to be made when the text of the ultimatum is received in Nanking.

Meanwhile, warlike demonstrations continued throughout Russia today. Young Communists have been raised to a fever pitch by the dispute, which is looked upon in many quarters as an affront to the Soviet government. Seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway and dismissal and deportation of Russian employees of that organization is characterized as a "foul attack by Manchurian Militarists," and even the most conservative newspapers are becoming intensely bitter in their criticism of the Chinese handling of the situation.

Hope For Settlement. Workers organizations are petitioning the Soviet government not to limit itself to exchange of notes on the affair, and instead to take "the most decisive measures to protect the Socialist Fatherland."

In authoritative circles, however, there is a general feeling that the matter will be thrashed out satisfactorily. There is some talk of a punitive expedition to repel while Russian raiders and to protect Soviet Nationals in the territory surrounding the Chinese Eastern Railway, but little indication of actual war plans.

PEIPING (PEKING), China, July 17.—Despite Soviet Russian protests, China began today to consolidate Chinese control of the Chinese Eastern railway. The positions formerly held by Russians who were dismissed and deported on the ground they were circulating communist propaganda, are being filled with others.

A Harbin dispatch said the city was excited over unconfirmed reports regarding the activities of Russian red troops along the Manchurian frontiers.

long flight from Fairbanks to Nome—a distance of 600 miles—is expected to culminate at 1:30 a. m. Sunday.

Expect Trip To Take 31 Hours. Capt. Hoyt's elapsed flying time, if his plans work out, will be 30 hours and 50 minutes. The airplane distance between New York and Nome is 4,230 miles.

The intrepid aviator will remain in Nome only about 6 hours and then will start on the hazardous return trip, arriving in New York at 6:10 p. m. Monday.

Captain Hoyt's flight is certain to be watched with the utmost interest by the sponsors of commercial flying interests. The need of an air-route to the Far East that is reasonably safe has long been recognized and if Captain Hoyt's flight is successful commercial operators will probably take steps to make the line a reality.

Practical aviation men long have regarded the route to be taken by Captain Hoyt as the most feasible flying route to Alaska and the Far East.

Industrials Drag; Grains Advance

Money Market Easier; Call Money Down To 10 Per Cent

By W. S. COUSINS. (International News Service Financial Editor) NEW YORK, July 17.—Industrial stocks dragged irregularly through a narrow range of prices in a fairly active market today. A boost in wheat and corn prices, restoring all of yesterday's losses, stimulated active buying of agricultural implements stocks at the highest prices of the year.

Stocks of the baking and foodstuffs companies made further progress in the upward directions and a few of the oils received a warmer reception from bullish traders.

The money situation was described as "easier," but money lenders exacted their tribute of 12 per cent for call loans and 7 1/2 to 8 per cent for time loans.

The big Bulls have exhausted their thunder in utility and railroad stocks, according to well posted observers of market conditions, who now look for a distributing market. Call money declined to 10 per cent in the third hour.

Case. Thrashing Machine's 17 1/2 point jump to 38 1/2, was the feature of high-priced specialties. International Harvester advanced 5 points to 122 1/2, and slightly higher prices were bid for American Agricultural, common and preferred. Johns Manville was another favorite in the specialties with a 5 point jump to 195, and Fleischmann moved up to a new high at 98 in fairly active trading.

With trading in the favorites considerably below the volume of the last ten days, the market lacked the snap and punch that has been so conspicuously displayed since the middle of June. The professionals and cliques in Wall Street were resting on their heels, according to the brokerage houses. The short interest in motor, steel and copper shares has measurably increased in the last two weeks.

STAR LORE DETERMINING DISTANCE TO A STAR (TRIGONOMETRIC) By Arthur DeV. Carpenter A surveyor wishes to determine the distance to the summit of a mountain. Without the necessity of climbing it, he lays out a base line of prescribed length in the valley; finds the angle from each end of the base line to the summit. Then having the base line and the dimension of the angles, by trigonometric method, he may determine the summit's distance. The astronomer, in finding the distance of the earth's annual orbit—186 million miles—as a base line; determines the angles from the baseline six months apart; from this data he computes the star's distance. He has determined the star's parallax. (More Tomorrow)

MISS EDITH SANKEY WEDS WILLARD DILLEY

A pretty wedding was celebrated in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Sankey, Laurel avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when their daughter, Edith Mae, became the bride of Willard E. Dilley, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Dilley of Greenville, Pa.

An embarkment of palms and ferns made a background for the ceremony, which was solemnized by Rev. C. J. Williamson, pastor of the Highland United Presbyterian church. The ring service was used and they were unattended.

Proceeding and during the ceremony Miss Elizabeth Houston sang "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me" and also played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin.

The bride was lovely in white tulle, trimmed with chintilly lace, and her shoulder corsage was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Supplementing the ceremony a buffet lunch was served to the guests, who numbered 30. Tall pink tapers lit with mallets, in crystal holders decorated the table.

The brides were the bride's aunt, Mrs. Samuel Houston, Miss Lucille Emery and Miss Elizabeth Houston.

Mrs. Dilley is a graduate of the local high school class of '24, attended Slippery Rock State Teachers' College and Geneva College, and is a teacher in the Union high school.

Mr. Dilley received his degree of bachelor of science from Thiel College, and since that time has been doing government research work, as well as being an instructor at the Union high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Dilley left for a motor trip to the Pacific coast and for traveling the bride wore an ensemble of black crepe.

Upon their return Mr. Dilley plans to enter the law school of the University of Pittsburgh.

THE LIMIT OF POPULATION

IN THE last century the earth's population is estimated to have increased from 900,000,000 to 1,750,000,000. Should the same ratio of gain continue through the next century a figure will have been reached in excess of what have reckoned as the greatest number the earth can provide with sufficient food. However, a German scientist thinks humankind can go on multiplying for quite a while yet, since he places the limit of population at 8,000,000,000.

Discoveries may be made in the line of food production that would permit more than this number to subsist on the planet. Notwithstanding the population is greater than a century ago, the standard of living is much higher. Increase could not continue without end, but it would be unsafe to fix definite limit and say that beyond this population cannot go.

There are regions overpopulated today under the conditions of agriculture practiced, just as others are underpopulated for various reasons. Distribution would correct both conditions. When the time comes that the earth is unequal to supporting a greater number than are living on it the situation will work out its own cure. It is indicated in some ways that the process of diminishing the ratio of increase is already under way.

It has been the rule to reckon two parents and three children as making up the average family. A survey covering 23,373 families is reported to have shown that almost one-fourth had no children living at home; another fourth had one child, one-fifth had two children and less than one-third had three or more. In only one per cent of the families were two parents and three children found. As families grow smaller the arrival of population limit will recede.

HOLIDAYS NOT MOST DANGEROUS FOR TRAFFIC

AN examination of the records covering Thursday, July 4, and Sunday, July 7, does not bear out the supposition that a larger number of motor vehicle accidents occur on great national holidays than on average Sundays, according to State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Benjamin C. Eynon.

"Newspapers of Pennsylvania reported fifty-five accidents of major nature as having occurred July 4, but the following Sunday the total was fifty-seven.

"Eight persons were killed and forty injured on the Fourth, according to the newspapers, but on July 7 four persons were killed and fifty-five were injured. The reason for the larger number of the Fourth was the occurrences of two particular nasty smash-ups in which several lives were lost."

Newspaper reports as examined by the motor vehicles bureau showed that the major number of accidents both days resulted from collisions between two or more cars. As usual, the greater number occurred on state highways, where the hazard was least.

"An examination of the newspaper stories indicates that nearly all of the mishaps occurred because at a critical moment a human being erred. Whether an operator or a pedestrian, his brain failed to function properly. I include among those guilty of mental lapses operators who raced through street or highway intersections as though no other vehicles were in operation anywhere—and those who foolishly methods indicated that they were authorized to defy the laws of gravity and of momentum," said Mr. Eynon.

"Considering that on July 4 traffic was much heavier than on July 7, the newspaper reports of accidents indicate that, relatively speaking, Pennsylvania streets and highways are safer on an important holiday than on a Sunday. That they should be dangerous at any time is due simply to the fact that the mental equipment of road users is impaired."

TRAINED PARENTS

IT IS with no little surprise that this generation hears that the widespread study of the child and of intelligent parenthood had an impetus on the very eve of the '90s, for one does not usually associate with the women's clubs of that time so practical an interest. The Fortnightly, Shakespeare, Kipling and Browning Clubs of the last decade of the nineteenth century suggest a more academic culture.

Teachers, even in the '90s, were required to take courses in child study and found them helpful in managing their classes. Nevertheless, it seemed unnecessary in those days that parents should have scientific learning. Many felt that the parental instinct was all that was needed and, after all, mothers could best serve their children by staying home with them.

Today child training is a science. There are many opportunities for child study under trained direction, and more and more parents are seeing the wisdom of depending upon knowledge rather than upon instinct in rearing children.

The children of "trained parents" are said to be more self-reliant, better able to make their own decisions than those of the untrained. They are said to have enterprise and initiative and to be working better toward the limit of their capacity; to be sounder in body and limb because their health has been carefully watched; to be more tolerant and courteous and unafraid. To make them so has at least been the object of their parents.

The Masses Like War.
Chain Store Growth.
Up Goes Wheat.
Coins in the Coffin.

Political theories differ in various countries, human nature is the same. Russia's masses now yell for war with China, stoning a Chinese consulate act as men usually do when war is suggested. A Harvard professor in his book on the mob said the right provocations would start a convention of clergymen on a lynching expedition.

Forty-five chain store organizations in June did $236,231,747 business gaining 25 per cent in a year. Sears Roebuck stands first with June sales of $24,000,000; Woolworth next $23,000,000; Montgomery Ward third, $21,000,000.

Newspaper publishers are interested in the policy of Gen. Wood a West Pointer now president of Sears, Roebuck. He is constantly building retail stores, promoting them with newspaper advertising.

Sears, Roebuck it is said plan several retail stores in all big cities one in each smaller city.

While the government thinks about it mother nature helps some farmers by injuring the wheat crop here and in the Canadian northwest.

The price of wheat went up Monday everywhere. Chicago, Winnipeg, London. Buenos Aires, touched $1.36 a bushel. The price was 96 cents a few weeks ago.

It is not so pleasant for those farmers whose wheat is irreparably ruined.

Religious changes are gradual. European Christian peasants still believe in fairies, witches, evil spirits and charms.

In Mott street, New York a Chinese merchant is buried. A Christian preacher officiating but two Chinese bands play outside in the street during the funeral and Chinese mourners passing the coffin drop in coins. The Bible says nothing about money after death but it might come in useful. Everybody here has his hand out, why not hereafter.

Of Florida's undesired misfortunes the worst was the incursion of outside real estate agents, high winds were unimportant in comparison. That great state is the natural winter sun parlor for millions and will keep going ahead. Nothing will stop it.

Miami Beach for instance has led a majority of cities in building gains for this year.

Now George L. Jones ex-serviceman searching for rock useful in concrete manufacturing has found a deposit of lavine rock and according to Mr. Curtis's paper has sold it for $1,000,000.

Go to Florida and locate your tarventine deposit. This country needs a lot of it. It is as lasting as marble, handsomer, easier to work.

A great crowd enjoyed the sight of a small lion fighting for its life against a large African lion in the Jueves bull ring yesterday.

The lion starved for a week jumped on the back of the bull tearing at its neck. The bull shook it off stamped on it four or five minutes the lion leaped back into the cage, the fight was over, everybody happy.

Before you condemn "Mexican cruelty" observe the crowd consisted chiefly of Americans. And ask yourself whether a lion fighting a bull is worse than one man fighting another in our prize ring.

W. T. Logan Christian missionary returning to Buffalo from the headwaters of the Zambesi tells of a little bird that makes a hole in the river bank clay, fills it with fruit, lets it ferment and develops alcohol.

At the proper time the bird returns to its little clay vat takes a drink and will fight anything. What could our prohibition forces do about that? Satan of course educated that bird far back in the Garden of Eden very likely.

Mrs. Ying Koa and her husband, arrested will be sent to China for bringing $1,000,000 worth of opium into this country packed in little tin boxes in Mrs. Koa's 11 trunks.

China could do this country a favor by showing mercy to Mrs. Koa on condition that she should reveal the American drug peddling combination for whom the opium was intended.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:27. Sun rises tomorrow 4:45.

There are a lot of people who try to confine their activities to localities where the police are not plentiful or not annoyed by rough stuff. Some terrible things are being pulled off in the night in this grand country of ours, omigosh!

Women get small pleasure listening to the soprano over the radio because they can't tell how she is dressed.

It is an ideal home if he doesn't always have to wonder just what she is going to ask him for when he sits down to an exceptionally good dinner.

There is no Good there is no Bad. These be the whims of mortal will. What works we want, that call I good. What harms and hurts, I hold is ill.

The thing that gets our Nanny is the birds who hardly, if ever pay any attention to their relatives while said relatives are alive, but raise their voices to high heaven when such fortunate relative happens to die. Such hypocritical concern is disgusting.

WHY HE DIDN'T WIN THE HAT. At an Elks jamboree a silk plug hat was offered to the man who would stand up and say he had never kissed any woman but his wife. "And you know, Mary," explained a homecoming Elk late that evening to his wife, "the funny thing was not a man stood up. The lady pondered a moment. 'John,' she said, 'how did it happen that you didn't stand up?'" "Well, Mary," he answered, "I came mighty near it, I just started to rise and then happened to remember that I looked like the chickens in a plug hat, so I didn't get up."

Harry K. Thaw wrote a book and his loss on it was $32,718. He evidently did not write stuff he could have written about himself in that effort. A rotten book sells fast these days.

A woman in Mercer got a divorce because her husband beat her, was lazy and was also a bootlegger, but was often too lazy to sell whisky. Being just a bootlegger is enough grounds for a divorce these days. On row-dee-down!

"Boy flying kites haul in their white-winged birds. But you can't do that when you are flying words; Thoughts unexpressed may sometime fall back dead. But God himself can't kill them when they're said."

Our idea of the best way to get good public officials is to nominate and elect them. This is not popular for some reason or other and the result is most anybody gets elected. We do not want any one to think this is personal with us.

PLAYS IT SAFE. The man who says there are 80 cities in the United States with populations of more than 100,000 is of safe ground so long as he refrains from identifying them.

Just for tonight. The years spread out, like seas, so gray and lonely. And pain and sadness seem around us twining. But, for tonight, let me remember only your dear face close to mine, your soft eyes shining. Lighting the glory of our love anew. Just for tonight, dear heart, just for tonight, unkindly.

The state highway department urges all motorists to get off the roads when they are fixing their cars. We have known of a lot of them who have been knocked off while tinkering with their cars. Being on the road and having the car running in first class shape is bad enough these days to say nothing of the nights.

The Hints and Dints man heard a German and a Frenchman in an argument on some subject pertaining to navigation the other day. The German said the Rhine was a rotten river to which the Frenchman replied "So is your old Marie."

BACK SEAT FOR IT. "I never dreamed," the old Atlantic sighed. "An aviator'd make me feel so dog-dogged small; 'It hurts my pride to think, alack, to them. 'I'm nothing more than a mere pond, that's all."

In the good old days there were several harvest home picnics in the late summer. Don't they have any harvests any more?

The latest bathing suits in Paris are little more than belis held up by gay colored suspenders. We have seen some in this country within the year, but they did not even have the belis.

We still have a little crime as an aftermath of post war orgies, but you seldom see a silk shirt any more.

There may not have been any significance attached to the fact that at a wedding the other day a fraternity brother of the groom during the ceremony played "Anchored" on his violin.

Three years ago last month, when I was an over-Sunday visitor with Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Rente in New Castle, they drove me over to Glad Haven, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Good, at Enon Valley. They wanted me to see the flowers there, for it was of them that Mr. Good, who was a great lover of Nature, made a specialty. His wonderful Delphiniums I wrote about at the time in particular, although he had beautiful flowers of all kinds. When Harry Good, as he was called, retired as postmaster of New Castle in 1923, he went to this little farm which he had previously acquired to follow an earlier dream—the cultivation of flowers. And now he has gone on, passing away without any premonition whatever at the wheel of his automobile while on a visit to New Castle. Fred wrote in his touching tribute: "He was a kindly soul, and as he went through life he left sunshine with him."

Whether the embassy is wet or dry, the average American in London will be pickled long before it ever occurs to him to call on Ambassador Davies.

She taunted him with tollies gone. Her selfishness he dwelt upon. The flames of anger hotter grew. "I'm done!" cried she; "I'm through!" She stamped her foot upon the floor, And he went out and slammed the door.

Recognition Of "Career Men" Demanded As Fletcher Retires

Remarkable Record Covering Period Of More Than Quarter Century In Diplomatic Service Is Accorded Nation-Wide Appreciation

A demand for further recognition of career men in the diplomatic service is heard as Henry P. Fletcher resigns his post as ambassador at Rome to return to his native land. His 27 years' continuous performance of duty at various foreign posts is lauded by the press and regret is expressed that a man of such extraordinary qualifications is to be lost to the government in the foreign field. While "homesickness" is the accepted reason for Mr. Fletcher's retirement, limitation upon promotion also is recognized as a probable factor. It is predicted that he will be called to public office by his home state of Pennsylvania.

"It is unhealthy for the diplomatic corps," says the KANSAS CITY STAR, "if it comes to be felt that career men can go only so far in the service, no matter what their qualifications. Mr. Fletcher, for instance, is thoroughly conversant with foreign points of view and with international problems. He knows the game. He is in a position to do important work in his country. It is a pity that he cannot be retained in the diplomatic service."

"Diplomacy is an art but an acquired one," declares the TULSA WORLD. "One is not born into its intricate avenues of language and action. Henry P. Fletcher, perhaps more than any other modern American, has acquired the art. The World adds the personal tribute: 'For years he has relied on his tact and knowledge of affairs in the countries to which he was accredited to preserve our harmonious relations with those countries, and the record shows that their confidence was not once misplaced.'"

"Few in the diplomatic service," according to the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL, "have had so wide an experience or so broad a knowledge of world affairs as this former Rough Rider and veteran of the Philippine expedition. . . . In Belgium and Italy he showed his many promotions had been merited and that American would do well to follow the European practice of choosing ambassadors from trained men in the diplomatic field. The ATLANTA CONSTITUTION avers that 'men of his ability, experience and fortitude in diplomatic negotiations are not placed out of the crowd at will; that they are products, as he is, of long, patient and adequate experience in a difficult international occupation.'"

"Probably no man at present in government service has such a wide knowledge and understanding of the delicate problems of foreign relations," declares the BLOOMINGTON EXAMINER. The LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL points out that the resignation "leaves very important posts open," and that President Hoover has "no easy job" in selecting men for the posts.

Quoting the ambassador's statement, "I am homesick," the NEW YORK TIMES comments: "In this confession, Ambassador Fletcher gives proof that he is still eligible in his attitude of mind and spirit to contribute to the welfare of our country abroad in any land." The Times continues: "It seems unfortunate that such diplomatic wisdom as his long and varied experience has gathered should not be kept at the command of the government which he has served with such ability and distinction. Perhaps a few months at home will allow him to go abroad again for brief periods, for one would wish, not that he should be quite cured of a patriotic home-loving malady, but that it should not keep him from the service for which he has given new proof of fitness."

THE LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT also emphasizes the confession of homesickness and the further information that he is "just going to stay around home and play golf." That paper suggests: "We have heard that the ambassador is homesick. He is a little homesick. Furthermore, who wouldn't resign a diplomatic post, regardless of how great the honor, if brought just to stay around home and play a little golf?" The Democrat says in praise of the ambassador: "He rose from the ranks to gain one of the highest diplomatic posts—quite a distinction from the career of the average American diplomat who is declared such because he has money and political affiliations."

"Henry Prather Fletcher, retiring on his own motion from the United States diplomatic service, is an outstanding son of Pennsylvania, on whom it is not unlikely the nation or state will call for further responsibilities," remarks the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, with the further informing statement: "His name has been mentioned among gubernatorial and senatorial possibilities, and except he shall be insistent on his right to follow his personal interests, it is not likely that he is coming back to a final retirement from a public career." The ALTOONA MIRROR also records that "rumor has made him the next governor, the next United States senator from Pennsylvania and assigned him other positions of dignity and honor."

The SCRANTON TIMES expresses the view that in the senatorial race, "he will be backed by the Mellon group which just now seems to have the dominant hand in the party in the state." The HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH is convinced that "he would be a serious contender for any office which he might aspire to," and makes the appraisal of his service: "Not since the days of Franklin has Pennsylvania given to the diplomatic service one who has rendered a better account of himself abroad." Suggesting Mr. Fletcher for senator and former State Treasurer S. S. Lewis for governor or vice versa, the LANCASTER INTELLIGENCER-JOURNAL feels that "in either event, they would be very hard to defeat, either at the primary or at the general election."

"His retirement is a national loss in the foreign field which, however, may be offset by a gain to American domestic life," in the opinion of the BUFFALO COURIER-EXPRESS. The BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE advises that "the people of Pennsylvania would do well to elect him either as senator or governor," and the LEXINGTON LEADER holds that in Congress he "would be a credit to his state and lend lustre to the senate."

"He would be particularly well fitted for a place on the important foreign relations committee," advises the HUNT DAILY JOURNAL, while the ASBURY PARK PRESS observes that "he is still in his prime, and because of his many years which the electorate of Pennsylvania might well employ."

WHAT PERSECUTION DOES. August 8 (Continued). What characters one meets in Russia. Despite the Communist attempts to refer to the individual in an under-estimated whole, we are encountering some highly picturesque personalities.

Here is Julius Hecker. This is his story in brief: Born a Russian. Persecuted for his democratic beliefs. Arrested and thrown in prison repeatedly. Hounded by the Czar's secret agents. Finally he became a nihilist and an atheist. He was eventually sent into exile. He made his way to America. In a little Methodist mission in New York he was converted. He resolved to give his life to Christian work. So at great sacrifice he secured an education in Columbia university. He then was given charge of a settlement work among Slavic people, which was patronized by Mrs. E. H. Harriman.

When the revolution broke out in Russia, he decided that his place was there. Because he was a Christian Communist, he felt that he might, without taking the protest out of Bolshevism, assuage the poison of of Bolshevism. So he began preaching in Moscow, a spiritual interpretation of the revolution. But the Bolsheviks would have none of this.

And once again, as under the Czarist regime he began making the acquaintance of prison cells. But the Bolsheviks have been unable to suppress him. He has a following of over ten thousand young priests, who he had been guiding in their efforts to train themselves to meet the new needs. At different times he has conducted theological classes attended by Orthodox priests and Evangelicals alike. He has issued a constant stream of pamphlets. He has an enormous library. Last winter, when he was stopped by the police, he was preaching in the largest church in Moscow. So, ere they knew it, words were said to thousands, who would swear for which set their cheeks to flaming red.

She taunted him with tollies gone. Her selfishness he dwelt upon. The flames of anger hotter grew. "I'm done!" cried she; "I'm through!" She stamped her foot upon the floor, And he went out and slammed the door.

Oil Companies Seeking Tariff Policy Changes

Contend That Tariff On Foreign Oil Would Nullify Conservation Movement

OIL INTERESTS DEMAND HEARING

Senator Pine, Oklahoma, Unleashes Attack On Hoover For His Oil Policy

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 17.—Backers of the Hoover administration's oil conservation policy today called for a hearing to meet the demand of many oil producers for a tariff on foreign oil which, it is alleged, would virtually nullify the conservation movement now under way.

The oil interests demanding a tariff have organized for a special hearing by the senate finance committee, although the committee has failed to present their case during the regular hearings.

Strong Organization
With many American firms ranging far and wide throughout the world in a search for more oil, the domestic producers who want to bar imported oil have perfected a strong organization to conduct their case.

Ex-Congressman E. B. Howard has been named to assemble witnesses and lead the fight, with the support of some senators from the oil producing states.

While preparations for the tariff presentation were in progress, Senator W. B. Pine (R) of Oklahoma, himself an oil producer, unleashed an attack upon the Hoover conservation policy which is being handled by Mark L. Requa of California.

Reaction Noted
Admitting that the organization built up by Requa has succeeded in cutting down oil aided to some extent by the interior department's withdrawal of oil permits, Senator Pine declared that a reaction has set in among the independent producers.

The effort has reduced production in Oklahoma, but while oil producers in Oklahoma were allowing the state to drop from first to third place in oil production, California, the home of Mr. Requa, has increased her production, Pine said.

"The producer at the head of the oil conservation movement was developing 20,000 new barrels of production while he was urging Oklahoma to reduce her output."

The opposition to the so-called oil conservation movement is based upon that it is not conservation, but control, that is the objective. This policy is not for the purpose of saving oil but for the purpose of getting control of the oil industry by the New York gang.

Injurious Policy
"The control that they now have is injuring the independent producers. There is a growing opposition at this time to the policy."

Pine asserted that there is a smaller supply of steel and of bauxite, used in making aluminum, in the nation than oil, and asserted that any conservation policy should first be applied to them.

He declared that he is opposed to the entire policy of control of production.

Representations made to the senate finance committee by opponents of a tariff on oil would immediately result in an increase of $200,000,000 a year in the motorists gasoline bill.

Most of the big companies, nearly all of which have foreign interests, are opposing the tariff plan.

Coal Miner Held In Smuggling Act

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 17.—Frank Hudzik of West Brownsville, Pa., coal miner, name of Czechoslovakia, was to be removed to Buffalo, N. Y., charged with conspiring with Frank Krospic to smuggle Ikko Hudzik across the Canadian border into this country.

It was charged by federal officers who arrested him at Falls View Bridge, Niagara Falls, that Krospic was paid $140 for his aid by the Hudzik brothers.

Dawson Lands His Plane Gracefully When Motor Dies

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 17.—Two passengers today owed their lives to the flying ability of Joe Dawson, former Pirate pitcher. The motor of Dawson's international biplane went dead 3,500 feet over the Point bridge.

Nosing his plane down carefully, Dawson made a smooth landing on the Paul Estate, near Brookline, and then took off again as quickly as he could make minor adjustments to the motor. The passengers were Captain T. F. Brown and William Smith, both of Buffalo.

the board members. Her job is proving trying, for many of the applicants to get personal interviews with Legge. Vice Chairman Stone or Secretary Christensen.

Too All-Important
In the end, however, the hopefuls are told in a patient, throaty voice that "no interviews are being granted on matters of personnel today—won't you please leave a written application?"

Thus far the board has made little progress, largely because of the very magnitude of the problem with which they are confronted. Legge has warned that farm relief is too all-important to permit any stampeding into hasty action.

"It is at once apparent," he said, "that any enterprise involving the direct welfare of one-third of the people of America and the indirect welfare of the other two-thirds must be approached deliberately."

no advertisement is allowed to be posted or published, the word-of-mouth notice is enough to attract enormous audiences. He has the Soviet officials baffled. They dare not put him out of the way, for fear of the people.

He tells us that the influence of religion is spreading like wild-fire through Russia. Religion is officially taboo. And, therefore, it has taken a sudden interest for young people. Religion in Russia is what evolution is in Tennessee, or what Ellen Key is in New York.

The intellectuals, who formerly opposed the church because of its association with the tyrannical ruling class, are now coming to its support. Some men seem to be born to come to the support of the underdog, and such doggy souls are now giving their allegiance to the church.

We followed a crowd early this evening, and finally found ourselves not at a political rally or at an athletic carnival, but at a meeting where a religious debate was being held!

At a recent debate, a friend told me, he was approached by a man as he was entering the auditorium, who offered him ten roubles for his seat! It still seems to be true that when you see a Russian going somewhere, he is probably on his way to a place where he can find out more about religion.

Mercer County Plants Turn Out Products Valued At $128,665,800

(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, Pa., July 17.—Mercer county's productive industrial plants in 1928 turned out products having a value of $128,665,800 according to preliminary figures compiled by the Bureau of Statistics of the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs and made public today by Secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward. The total for the year was slightly below the production valuation in 1927 when the total was $133,335,000.

There were 154 industrial plants in the county in 1928, representing 65 different kinds of industry. The plants were operated by 65 individuals, 23 partnerships and 64 corporations. These plants gave employment to 11,851 wage earners and 1,576 salaried employees, a total of 13,427 industrial workers. In 1927 there were 13,667 industrial employees. The wage earners in Mercer county last year included 7,863 Americans white, 644 Americans colored and 3,344 foreigners. There were 11,402 males and 449 females employed as wage earners and these persons received $12,758,600 during the year, the males receiving $12,404,700 while 1 male wage worker was paid $353,900. Wage workers in 1927 were paid $12,551,900. Salaried employees in 1928 received $3,963,900 and this amount combined with wages paid made the county's industrial payroll reach $22,722,500 as compared with $22,796,600 in 1927.

The capital invested in Mercer county last year reached $87,583,500 and in the preceding year the total was $86,616,500.

Metals and metal products made up the big bulk of production in Mercer county last year when products worth $124,020,300 were finished. Primary metal products were worth $69,695,500 while secondary metal production had a value of $54,324,800. Other industrial classes in the county had these values: Chemicals and Allied Products, $355,000; Clay, Glass and Stone Products, $85,200; Food and Kindred Products, $1,242,700; Leather and Rubber Goods, $63,200; Lumber and its Remanufacture, $384,000; Paper and Printing Industries, $733,300; Textiles and Textile Products, $125,800; Mines and Quarries, $1,069,000 and Miscellaneous, $384,300.

Mercer county produced among other things 145 tons of fertilizers, 6,000 pounds of confectionery, 4,814 barrels of flour, 241,773 gallons of ice cream, 9,164 tons of manufactured ice, 481,652 tons of billets, blooms and slabs, 580,968 tons of iron and steel ingots, 889,375 tons of pig iron, 12,624 tons of iron and steel plates, 7,454 tons of iron and steel sheets, 467,535 tons of tin and terra plate, 80,978 tons of wire rods, 1,089 pounds of refined and smelted zinc, 277,110 tons of bituminous coal, 55,145 tons of sand and gravel, 17,397 tons of glass sand and 24,981 dozen blooms.

Included in the total value of all industrial production in Mercer county were products worth $25,463,900 turned out in the city of Sharon where, in 1927, the products were valued at $35,040,500. The preliminary figures show that Sharon had 47 industrial establishments last year with 23 different kinds of production. The plants were operated by 26 individuals, three partnerships and 13 corporations. Sharon's industries employed 3,864 industrial workers last year including 3,135 wage earners and 723 salaried employees. In 1927 there were 4,379 industrial workers. Included in the wage earners last year were 2,668 Americans white, six Americans colored and 461 foreigners, approximately one-half of the number of foreigners employed during the preceding year. There were 2,850 male wage earners and 285 female wage employees who were paid a total of $4,438,800, the males receiving $4,210,900 while females were paid $227,900. The salaried employees during the year received $1,453,700 and this amount combined with the wages paid brought the city's total industrial payroll up to $5,922,500 as compared with 7,158,000 in 1927.

The capital invested in industries in Sharon last year was $18,385,100 and in 1927 this item amounted to $22,687,500.

Metals and metal products led the other industrial classes in Sharon with a value of $24,945,000, all but $335,100 of which represented the value of secondary metal production. Other industrial classes in the city had these values: Chemicals and Allied Products, $119,500; Clay, Glass and Stone Products, $63,000; Food and Kindred Products, $413,400; Leather and Rubber Goods, $16,500; Lumber and its Remanufacture, $131,100; Paper and Printing Industries, $454,700; Textiles and Textile Products, $6,600 and Miscellaneous, $214,000.

Hauser of the Reformed church board, Dr. John W. Elliott of the Baptist board and the Rev. E. C. Kebock of the Methodist board will have a place on the general program.

PETER ACCUSED AS A THIEF

The brown bee looked at Peter curiously.

"Oh, so you fell into our house," she repeated Peter's words. "It still remains to be found out whether you are telling the truth, but if you are, it explains how you got here! I couldn't imagine how you came through the entrance which is well guarded. Well, where did you fall through? From which direction did you make your way here?" Peter waved his hand.

"I came through that passage right behind us," declared he, "along the corridor with all the little doors." It was as though Peter had thrown a bomb at the flier. She couldn't have been more excited.

"Sisters, sisters, come here quickly! There is a thief among us!" In the twinkling of an eye the swarm of bees was upon him. For one awful moment poor Peter thought he would be crushed. There was no way of escape, however, nothing to do but hold his ground in the face of the angry swarm, so Peter held it.

"I am not a thief," shrieked Peter, as loud as he could, "and I will prove it am not, if you will give me time." Peter hadn't much hope the bees would pay any attention to his cry, feared they had not even heard his voice, they were making so much noise themselves. But scarcely had he spoken when there was a sound like a trumpet call. To his surprise at once the buzzing stopped.

Out of the maddened throng stepped a fat, brown bee, and stood beside the flier who had given the alarm.

"Sister, why did you call us?" asked the fat, brown bee in a low voice. "What did you want us to do to the stranger?"

"Seal him up in a cell," buzzed the first bee in great excitement. "The stranger is a thief. He has stolen our honey. Our babies will starve because of his wicked deeds."

Rev. A. H. O'Brien Is Greeted With Large Audience Tuesday Evening

A large congregation greeted Rev. A. H. O'Brien, pastor-evangelist from East Liverpool, Ohio, at the camp meeting Tuesday evening at the corner of East Washington and Junior High streets.

Rev. O'Brien spoke on the subject, "Free Salvation." He stressed the redemption of Israel from their bondage in Egypt. He said that these people were free from disease and there were none feeble among them. God is able to heal today as well as then, the speaker said.

Rev. O'Brien spoke of the thrilling experiences he had while a missionary in China.

Rev. McKinney of Youngstown, O., was present and offered prayer. Congregational singing was a special feature of the evening.

River Steamboat Rage Exciting

Packet Tom Greene, Wins
Race By Few Feet From
Betsy Ann On Ohio
River

WOMAN PILOT IS VICTORIOUS

(International News Service)
CINCINNATI, O., July 17.—Victorious in the closest river steamboat race ever run on an American inland waterway course, the Cincinnati packet Tom Greene today held the speed championship for all steamboats of America's inland waterways. The local packet finished only 30 feet ahead of the Pittsburgh steamboat Betsy Ann last night in a nip-and-tuck race over a 22-mile course from Broadway landing here to New Richmond, O.

Mrs. Gordon Greene, mother of Tom Green captain of the Cincinnati boat, piloted the winning craft. She is America's only woman steamboat owner.

The Betsy Ann was piloted by Frederick Way, her youthful commander and owner.

The championship originated in Lower Mississippi river waters and was held by the steamer Betsy Ann for many years until wrested away from her by the fleet Ohio river packet Chris Greene just a year ago yesterday when the Chris Greene finished a full six boats length ahead of the doughty Mississippi river craft and thereby secured the possession of a beautiful pair of gold tipped elk horns.

Youth Killed By Fall From Truck

(International News Service)
SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., July 17.—Knocked from a gasoline truck when he accidentally touched an overhead power wire, Paul Fieber, 20, of Middlebourne, was dead here today.

The youth had been working at a filling station near Middlebourne. He was unscrewing a cap on a drum of gasoline on a truck when he straightened up and came in contact with the wire. The heavy charge of electricity knocked him to the ground, 15 feet, and his neck was broken.

It was believed the fall, rather than the charge of electricity, killed Fieber. Electric company officials could not estimate how much electricity passed through the boy's body.

Former Agricultural Secretary Isn't Worried Over Too Little Or Even Too Much Food Produce

By CHARLES P. STEWART,
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, July 17.—Won't it be awful when folk become so numerous on earth that the world no longer can be made to produce enough to feed them all?

Essentialists worried over this problem for generations—until recently, too. Once I got an interview about it from a member of the 69th congress, which was only the last but one—as lately as that.

"Pooh on such a silly idea!" observes ex-Secretary of Agriculture William M. Jardine.

Pooh! indeed. At any rate in this country the question now is—where in the dickens are we going to find enough people to eat up what the farmers already produce?—with crops getting bigger all the time.

"Pooh on that idea also!" says ex-Secretary Jardine.

"Whenever we need it," continues the Kansan (ex-Secretary Jardine is from the Sunflower state), "unused land awaits development in millions of acres."

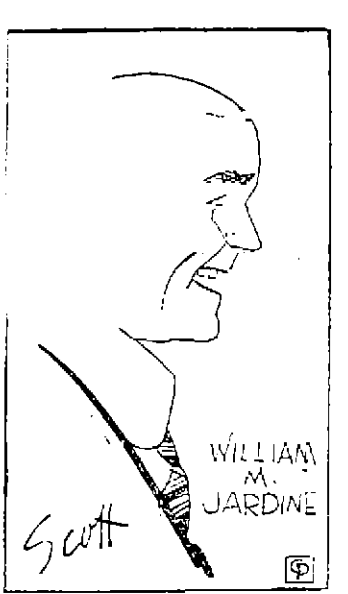

"More and more intensive methods of cultivation will increase present yields per acre almost indefinitely."

"So much for the prospect of agriculture's ultimate inability to continue producing enough to feed the earth's population."

"Claims that the farmer is over-producing today," proceeded the cabinet member, "are just as groundless as fears that, some time in the future, there will not be enough to go around."

"For every meal that American agriculture has left on its hands, someone somewhere involuntarily is doing without that meal."

"In China there is starvation. Europe is on short rations. Even in our own southern states there are many whose allowance is not what is ought to be."

WILLIAM M. JARDINE

"Would-be consumers for everything grown on American farms are not lacking," said the former secretary.

"Our farmers' problem is one of delivery to would-be consumers — at prices it is possible for them to pay."

"It is a question of marketing."

"A big city absorbs farm products by the trainload — whole trainloads, all of the same thing."

"There is economy in trainload deliveries."

"But Podunk has a capacity for only part of a carload—and that must be mixed."

"Too expensive! Too slow, besides — products spoil on the road."

"The farmers need centralization of salesmanship, to enable them to bargain—against the centralized purchasing power to which they must sell."

"They need more points of concentration—from which to radiate their products to many Podunks."

"More money from consumers is not the object—lower, rather."

"I say again—the farmer's object is to deliver his products to the would-be consumer at prices which the latter CAN AFFORD TO PAY."

"This means abroad—in Europe and Asia—as well as here at home."

"The Chinese are poor, yes. Nevertheless, we may be sure they will at least buy food—if they can. If we improve our distributing machinery overseas just as we must improve it at home—we shall be able to make it possible for more and more Chinese to buy."

"Higher prices? Exactly the contrary. Prices that the consumer can pay are essential—or he cannot buy."

"Of course, the process will cut out a swarm of middle men."

"What will become of them? Oh, I don't know. Doubtless some will be absorbed into the improved new system. Some will have to find other occupations."

"They cannot be permitted to stand in the way of a better world."

"All this calls for co-operation"—which is the task ex-Secretary Jardine is tolling now to perfect, as he tolled to organize it during his four years in office—for the recently passed farm bill virtually is the one he tolled to his successor, Secretary Arthur M. Tyde, on his retirement a few weeks ago.

"Only," he adds, rather peevishly, "it has been a mighty hard job to make the public understand what its purpose is."

"It's true," concluded the ex-secretary, "that perfect co-ordination, from producer to consumer, has been a problem of the ages in agriculture, and its solution never has been arrived at yet, but I am hopeful that at last we are on our way."

Girl Stowaway On Bus Discovered

Homer City Girl Fourteen Years Old Hides Self On
New York Bound
Bus

(International News Service)
LEWISTOWN, Pa., July 17.—Stella Boulcien, 14-year-old Homer City stowaway whose eager answer to the call of the open road was rudely shattered when she was ejected from her snug hiding place in a Pittsburgh-New York passenger bus, drowsily rubbed the sleep from her eyes in the ladies department of the Mifflin County Jail today, resignedly awaiting the arrival of Homer City officers to return her to her home.

Passengers on the bus were astonished yesterday when an unmistakable yawn from the unoccupied rear seat was wafted to their ears. Investigation disclosed Stella, comfortably ensconced in her snug quarters.

The girl told police that, because of domestic difficulties at home, she had clambered, unobserved, into the bus when it halted at Homer City. Stella said she had intended to stay in hiding until the bus reached New York where she planned to seek work.

A few months ago, Stella left home at that time bound west, astride an ancient horse. She had covered many miles before sleep—and the horse—were returned home.

It might not make much difference if they change the names of the months and add one more, but how would we know when to eat oysters?—The Altoona Mirror.

New Short Cut Route To Buffalo Near Completion

Lawrence County Drivers Will Have Shorter Route To Buffalo

(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, July 17.—Pennsylvanians in northwest Pennsylvania will have a new short cut over improved roads to Buffalo and points northeast of that city with the completion of a gap of unimproved road on Traffic Route No. 89 between Lowville and the Venango-Greenfield township line, Erie county, Secretary of Highways James Lyall Stuart, announced today.

The project is scheduled to be completed by August 15 and the road opened by September 1. It is anticipated when completed the new road will enable travel on the William Penn highway, Traffic Route No. 8 to by-pass Erie and continue to Buffalo via North East and U. S. Route No. 20, the Yellowstone Trail.

Travel to Buffalo from the William Penn highway south of Union City today follows the Roosevelt highway, U. S. Route No. 6 to Erie or the William Penn highway, Traffic Route No. 8 to Erie via Lowville and the Yellowstone Trail, U. S. Route No. 20, northeast to Buffalo. With the completion of the new section, traffic from the William Penn highway to Buffalo will follow Traffic Route No. 89 direct from Lowville to North East and then over the Yellowstone Trail to Buffalo, reducing travel distance over improved roads by 15 miles.

The opening of the new route will provide an alternate route from Pittsburgh to Buffalo, paralleling the Buffalo-Pittsburgh highway and will be of immediate benefit to residents of Lawrence, Venango and Crawford counties as well as benefiting the eastern sections of Erie county. The improvement too will complete the last gap on Traffic Route 89 between its terminal points Lowville and North East. This project is being financed on a state-aid and special aid basis. The project is under contract to J. C. Devine Co., Meadville, Pa. Actual work started September 18, 1928.

Nitro-Glycerine Fails To Explode As Team Runs Away

Horses Carry Wagon Loaded
With Explosive Mile Over
Country Roads

BRADFORD, Pa., July 17.—The topic of conversation in this section was what might have happened Tuesday when a truck struck a wagon carrying nitro-glycerine and the horses ran away without causing the explosive to come tumbling off by only a slight ray, to let go.

Burr Houben, Bradford, an employee of the American Glycerine company, was hauling 80 quarts of the powerful explosive to a lease near Derrick City. As he turned from the main highway, his vehicle was struck by a truck driven by Roy Harlas, Bradford.

The impact shunted the explosive-laden wagon into a small bridge, frightening the horses and throwing the driver out. The animals ran a mile, part of the distance across country, before being halted by Lloyd English, a lease worker.

A second wagon with 110 quarts of nitro-glycerine was traveling just ahead of Houben when his vehicle was struck. The driver of this wagon, Hugh Bach, attempted to stop the runaway horses but failed.

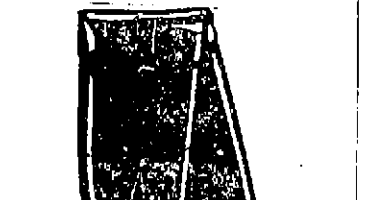

Houben suffered lacerations and bruises when thrown from the wagon, but at a hospital it was said he was not seriously hurt.

DuBois Airport To Be Dedicated

Clarence Chamberlain And Lieutenant Maitland Guests Of Honor Thursday

By F. J. GILLUNG
I. N. S. Special Correspondent.

DUBOIS, Pa., July 17.—Clarence Chamberlain, America-to-Germany flyer, and Lt. Lester Maitland, hero of the California-Hawaii flight, were due here today as plans were completed for dedication tomorrow of the DuBois-American Legion airport, which has been developed under auspices of the United States department of commerce.

Other nationally known flyers and a fleet of 30 planes, including army and navy squadrons, were scheduled to participate in the exercises. Guests over the Allegheny mountains. The field has a maximum runway of 2,400 feet. It was purchased by federal authorities as an intermediate landing field between New York and Cleveland.

George V. West, department of commerce aviation supervisor for Pennsylvania, was to be the principal speaker at the dedication.

The new airport is located on the course of the trans-continental air mail between New York and Chicago. It is one mile east of DuBois. According to officials of the department of commerce, the DuBois-Legion field, with six-way landing facilities, is at a logical western gateway to the climb over the Allegheny mountains. New Projects Keep Steel Industry At Great Production

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 17.—New projects that will take large tonnages of steel continue to come into the market, offsetting the slight falling off in consumption in some of the manufacturing lines. Iron Age will say in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow. Gas pipe lines, building construction and railroad requirements figure prominently in actual and prospective business, the magazine will say.

"Evidence also of stepping up in the automobile industry comes in form of requests for increased shipments to begin August 1, from companies which had cut schedules preparatory to bringing out new models," Iron Age will say. "Farm machinery manufacturers are planning a high rate of output."

"The United States Steel corporation subsidiaries are working virtually at capacity and that is true of most of the independent companies. Lessening of extreme pressure from some lines of steel has made it easier for steel companies to arrange mill schedules.

"Steel building construction fresh projects call for 74,000 tons, the largest amount reported in any one week this year. Railroad buying has been largely in track material.

"In the lines of steel in which buying has let down a slight price weakness has developed. Blue annealed sheets have now been affected along with black and galvanized. Active buying has failed to develop in pig iron.

"Southern basic iron has been offered at $13.50 a furnace. The Iron Age composite price for finished steel remains unchanged at 2.42 cents a pound, for the 16th week, while the pig iron composite dropped for the third time in six weeks and is now $18.42, a 12-cent decline from last week."

Famous Men In Explorers Club Tell Odd Tales

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 17.—"Now take it from me when you get atop those mountain peaks in the Gobi desert, dodging ice floes at every turn and not knowing when or where you'll find a nest of dinosaurs' eggs, your mind just can't keep from turning to other pleasant hours. You'll wish you were sitting cross-legged again on the bottom of the ocean with nothing more dangerous than two or three hungry sharks nosing around."

No, this isn't the talk of a madman but a composite conversation that one might hear if he dropped in unannounced on the Explorers Club in their new half-million dollar club house which was recently completed here.

For in this rather palatial lounging place one will find men who have tramped deserts, flown, and sailed the Seven Seas in search of adventure and scientific data.

All Branches.

Here Roy Chapman Andrews, who found the dinosaurs eggs and many other marvels in the Gobi desert; Vilhjalmur Stefansson—who knows his Arctic; Captain Bob Bartlett, Admiral Peary's right hand man and himself a great explorer in the Arctic; Harry A. Franck, who has tramped all over the earth, climbing the Himalayas and Andes, seeing life from every angle in every clime; William Beebe, the naturalist, who searches the floor of the sea and who started much discussion with his statement that sharks had no craving for human flesh; Martin Johnson, a mighty hunter with the camera; Captain Felix Reisenberg, sailor and novelist; and Anthony Fiala, polar explorer or note, sit around and tell of narrow escapes in subway jams and perils of yawning.

The Explorers Club has had an interesting history. It was started back in 1894 by the late Professor William Henry Brewer, of Yale. The club was first called the Arctic Club, but that was too narrow and the idea was expanded to include men who had done big things in a pioneer scientific way. Among the original members were the late Carl Akeley, explorer, hunter, collector, inventor; Sir Ernest Shackleton; Sir Francis Younghusband; Prince Albert, of Monaco, a distinguished mariner, and Ronald Amundsen, discoverer of the Northwest Passage and conqueror of both poles.

National Farm Outlook

Considering how long it has been debated, it is surprising how many people, even farm people, do not know what an "Export Debenture" is, or what it is supposed to do.

When the senate convenes again, late in August, to receive the report of its finance committee on the new tariff bill, there will be another powerful effort made to make the export debenture plan a feature of that bill.

While I am sure that effort will fail, nevertheless it may not be too late to explain what the debenture is. After all, the thing is quite simple. Most confusion arises because of the word "debenture." If the plan were called simply an export bounty, which is what it is, most people would understand it at once.

We start with the idea that we grow more wheat, more cotton, and more of several other things than we can use at home, and have to export the surplus. But because of competition from other countries, and because our foreign customers are pretty keen buyers, we have to sell those surpluses at low prices and with difficulty.

On the other hand, if we could sell these surpluses abroad, easily and quickly, the supplies remaining at home would soon be down to a total where the domestic prices would rise above the world prices, and the farmers would profit nicely.

The "export bounty" is simply the payment by the government of a reward to everybody who will ship wheat or cotton or the other products out of the country. On wheat commonly used as the example, the government would pay 21 cents a bushel, or something like that, to every exporter who would ship it away.

The important tariff or wheat would keep the grain from coming back in, and the domestic supply would soon be down to a point where the price would delight the soul of the wheat-grower.

That is really all there is to it. The reason the payment or reward is called a "debenture" instead of a "bounty" is because the proposal is not to pay it in cash from the U. S. treasury, but to give a paper certificate, which could be used instead of cash in paying import duties on anything imported into this country.

The net effect is the same. With a bounty, cash would be paid out of the treasury. With a "debenture," these certificates would be coming in in payment of customs duties, and the payments of cash into the treasury would be reduced by that amount. Either way, the treasury is out.

I think this explanation should be clear. Certainly the scheme itself is simple enough.

As to whether the plan would work as expected, that is another story, and a very different one.

Believes That States Should Share Burden In Dry Enforcement

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 17.—Prohibition officials today were in principle agreed with Chairman George W. Wickersham of the president's crime commission, who informed the governors' conference at Groton, Conn., that the states should bear a sizeable share of the burden of enforcing the dry laws.

Doubt was expressed, however, that any modification of the dry laws would be necessary. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Loman, in charge of prohibition, called attention to the provisions of the 18th amendment giving the states concurrent jurisdiction with the federal government in enforcement activities. There appeared to be nothing that would force the states to cooperate, however.

Handle Small Cases.

Commissioner James M. Moran explained that it had been the view of the treasury department that the states should handle the smaller cases and police work, having remained $200,000,000 annually would be required should the federal government attempt to police the entire country.

Clarification of the duties of the state and federal government would be helpful, in the view of treasury officials. The government has devoted its efforts to fighting smuggling, with a major operation now in progress along the Canadian border. It has aimed to break interstate conspiracies in transportation and to attack wholesale liquor manufacturing operations.

In addition the federal government supervises manufacture, storage and distribution of medicinal liquor and industrial alcohol, a function that should remain where it is, in the opinion of officials.

Policy Outlined.

The treasury's policy was outlined by Moran as follows:

"The federal government has certain board and appropriate functions to perform, and I assert it is performing them reasonably well. In the first place, it is the duty of the federal government to prevent smuggling of liquor. The coast guard has been augmented, rum row has been broken, treaty conventions have been entered into and the total smuggling of illicit liquor reduced to one-fourth the quantity of three years ago."

"Internal federal enforcement should be primarily investigative rather than that of policing. It should aim to break up the large scale interstate and inter-district conspiracies and center its efforts on the commercial operations dealing with manufacture, transportation and distribution of commercial quantities of liquor. It should investigate collusive conditions where local officials are in conspiracy with these rings. That it is doing."

Wallace Speaks At Kiwanis Club

In Noonday Address He Tells Club Members Of Westminster

"The Most Important Industry in Lawrence County" was the subject upon which Dr. W. Charles Wallace, Westminster College president, spoke at the regular weekly dinner-meeting of the local Kiwanis Club at noon.

Dr. Wallace first described the present condition of Westminster, pointing out its rapid development to the place it now holds among the leading educational institutions in this section. He remarked that there once was a time when the institution claimed a total of 200 students, with 10 of this number from New Castle. Out of the 540 enrolled during the last term there were 110 who attended from New Castle.

After discussing Westminster in particular, Dr. Wallace spoke of the value of education in its relation to democracy. He said "It is not the beautiful buildings or the large endowment that makes for education today. The character of those who teach and those who receive the instruction is of far greater import than these. A lifting of the level of character among the commonfolk in our commonwealth is the supreme need of our day," he said in conclusion. "The institutions of learning must be kept functioning if this goal is to be reached."

Dempsey Pens Second Story Of Activities At U.S. Army Camp

Instruction Will Close This Week And Majority Will Go Home

Pat J. Dempsey, executive secretary of Lawrence County Red Cross who has been training at the U. S. army camp at Carlisle Barracks, Carlisle, Pa., for several weeks writes of the activities which are to feature the final week there. He will return to New Castle Saturday. In the interesting letter Mr. Dempsey makes mention of other New Castle men in camp. It is the second camp letter that Mr. Dempsey has contributed. He writes as follows:

"The New Castle News."

"We have been hoping to it so strenuously during this second period of training that I have not done any writing. The course during this period is more advanced than the previous ones and it is by units instead of individual training."

"There are ten different medical regiments represented here and for purposes of training each functions as a separate unit using attached officers not regularly assigned to a regiment to fill up vacancies. Practically all of the states east of the Mississippi river are represented even as far south as Louisiana."

"Last week was well I am enclosing a program of activities which gives the dope. As you will note moving pictures are used in illustrating problems and are a great means of instruction. One very interesting feature under military law was an actual court martial of a deserter who was tried and convicted. He happened to be an old offender and the camp could not very well do other than it did."

"Captain W. Fulton Jackson, Capt. R. C. Lutz and Lieut. Jay Reed are with us this time. Capt. H. R. Forney, medical corps, a former New Castleite is also here. Capt. Jackson and Forney are with men in the chemical warfare service of the army. Brig. Gen. Kelper plans the training from the surgeon general's office in Washington."

"This week Thursday will be the day for our annual parade for which we have been rehearsing daily. We have over 400 officers here and it is quite a task to get them whipped into shape in such a short time, but usually everything goes alright."

"We will give a reception on Thursday evening along with a dance. The week's activities will wind up Friday so we expect to be back at our job on Monday again."

"The weather has been ideal except for the first night, so we have nothing to complain of. I am so accustomed to sleeping outside I guess I'll have to put up a tent in the backyard for the rest of the summer."

"So long and kind regards."

EIGHT FISHERMEN RESCUED AT SEA

down in thirty fathoms of water 170 miles southeast of Cape Ann, eight sword fishermen from the schooner Maritima were brought into port on Tuesday aboard the coastguard cutter Burrows.

Three States Have Half Of Industrial Disputes In Year
Pennsylvania, New York And Massachusetts Lead All Others

(Special To The News) — Over 50 per cent of the industrial disputes in the United States in 1928 occurred in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New York according to the survey by the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor. The proportion of disputes centered in the three states during 1928 is similar to that for the year previous as well.

Since the survey reports 829 industrial disputes in the country for the year it would indicate that over 415 of them occurred in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New York. The total figure for the year however is smaller than in any year since the bureau began its compilations in 1916. The number of employees concerned in the 829 disputes was 337,145. As previously observed in similar reports, April and May are the months of greatest unrest.

Initial information regarding industrial disputes in the United States is obtained by the bureau of labor statistics chiefly from the following sources: Labor papers and trade-union journals; trade periodicals; lists of strikes issued by labor, trade and other organizations; clipping bureaus; daily papers from the most important industrial cities in the country; and reports of the conciliation service of the department of labor. All leads are verified.

For the years 1926 to 1928 inclusive data has been collected only for disputes involving six or more workers and lasting for one day or more, no distinction being made between strikes and lockouts.

AGED CARPENTER SEEMED BEYOND MEDICAL AID!
Suffered Greater Part Of 20 Years; Relieved By Ten Herbs, He Says.
"I had been troubled with indigestion the greater part of the last 20 years," was the recent statement of Mr. George E. Anderson, postoffice Box 141, Hunker, Pa. "Although I went on a diet and tried different kind of medicines, I failed to get satisfactory relief," continued Mr. Anderson, who is 61 years of age and a carpenter.

"At times indigestion was very severe, being accompanied with sharp pains. Gas frequently formed, and I would belch food, which left a sour, disagreeable taste. Sometimes I had headaches and became dizzy. I could not secure necessary restful sleep, because of nervousness. Constipation also caused me considerable trouble."

"A friend, who had been greatly benefited by Ten Herbs, called my attention to your medicine, and I decided to give it a trial. After taking Ten Herbs awhile, I feel greatly improved in every way. I can eat almost anything I desire without having any bad results. Gas and pains from indigestion have disappeared, and I never have any more headaches. Constipation has been overcome. I can sincerely recommend Ten Herbs to anyone as a medicine that actually does everything that is claimed for it."

Ten Herbs is sold at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, and at all drug and medicine stores throughout this entire section.

Johnson Bronze Plant Expansion Is Being Rushed

New Sand Reclaiming Department Will Be Housed In Newest Structure

CONTRACT IS LET FOR BOILER HOUSE

Work of constructing the new building which will house the sand reclaiming system at the Johnson Bronze plant has been started, and is being carried forward day and night to have the structure completed as soon as possible.

This important part of the plant is being built where the last original structure of the American Cnr and Ship Hardware Co. stood, and is located between the foundry and machine shops. It formerly housed a part of the foundry and the grinding department.

The grinding, cleaning and shipping department have been moved to the big addition recently completed, which occupies the entire first floor of the new structure. The tool room occupies the second floor.

When completed, the new sand reclaiming department will be the last word in this type of equipment. The sand will be conveyed to the foundry by means of belt conveyors, which in turn will bring it back to the same building, where it will be purified by air and water, and new sand added for use again. This structure is expected to be ready for use about September 15.

The building will be 87 feet high, and will be the tallest of the buildings at the Johnson Bronze plant. The system is being built following a long study by engineers and officials of the company, and the equipment which will be installed will be built especially to suit their need. A new boiler house is also being installed at the plant, contract for the boilers having been recently awarded to the William M. Clark and Co. of this city. A huge stack over 100 feet in height will be installed. When the new sand reclaiming building is completed, forty more moulding machines will be added to the present equipment, greatly increasing the output of the plant.

FOODS GOOD FOR CLEAR SKIN

Physician Recommends Three Vegetables to Improve Complexion

It may seem strange to hear a professor of medicine recommend the eating of cabbage as an aid to beauty, as was done in an address in St. Louis recently. He stressed cabbage, carrots and spinach as diet aids to a good skin.

We believe that most medical authorities will agree that the clear and beautiful complexion is one of the results of good health. If that is so, the words of a food scientist have a bearing on the subject of beauty. This authority says that we should eat at least one raw fruit and one raw vegetable each day, also a fruit and a vegetable well cooked. The vitamins and minerals found in fruits and vegetables tone up the whole system. They give many of the healthful elements the body requires in the diet.

A dash of sugar is recommended for adding to the pleasure of eating fruits and vegetables. Nature developed this supreme flavor for relieving our diet of blandness and monotony. Use a dash of sugar on cereals, on berries, in stewed fruits. Remember an old secret: Use a dash of sugar in nearly every vegetable while it is cooking (preferably in little water). This small amount of sugar does not make the vegetables taste sweet. But it is surprising how it develops the natural flavors of the foods. Foods tastefully prepared encourage healthful eating. The sugar way is the happy way. The Sugar Institute.

Colonel Leasure's Daughter Dies

Mrs. James W. Raymond Passes Away At Pasadena, California

Word has been received by John C. Taggart, Assistant General Superintendent of the Carnegie Steel Company of the death of his cousin, Mrs. James W. Raymond, age 83 in Pasadena, Cal. Mrs. Raymond was well known to many New Castle residents for she was a daughter of Lawrence County's famous Civil War hero, Colonel Daniel Leasure.

As a girl Mrs. Raymond, who was then Belle Leasure, watched her father go to war at the head of one of Pennsylvania's most noted regiments, the Roundheads. Later she married James W. Raymond, who was a business partner of L. S. Hoyt in a store in the Cunningham Block on the public square.

After he disposed of his business interests here Mr. Raymond went to Bismarck, N. D., the terminal then of the Northern Pacific Railway, where he conducted a store. Still later he went to Minneapolis, Minnesota where he was made president of a bank. He preceded his wife in death some years ago.

Mrs. Raymond is survived by one son, Daniel Leasure Raymond of Minneapolis, a sister, Edith M. Leasure of Pasadena, and the following cousins, John C. Taggart and Mrs. T. F. Morehead, and Samuel Hamilton of New Castle and Mrs. A. C. Jones of Roanoke, Va.

First mate Charles Knutsen of Newport, E. I., is believed the man who was killed.

its mooring in Hempstead Harbor.

Ten members of the crew escaped injury by leaping into the water when the blast occurred and were picked up by boats from various other vessels anchored in the harbor.

Fire broke out immediately after the explosion, reducing the palatial yacht to a wreck of smouldering embers. Witnesses said the explosion was of such volume that the deck and smokestack were blown high into the air.

Air Mail Not Yet Ahead Of Regular From Some Sections

Experiment Shows That Delivery From Some Parts Of Nation Not Much Faster

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 17.—The air mail has not yet completed its triumph over the regular mail in linking Pennsylvania with the nation's capital so far as speed is concerned, according to a test conducted by the Washington Post.

The Post, in its test, had the chief of police in the capitals of 46 states mail two letters simultaneously—one letter bearing the regular two-cent stamp and the other the five-cent air mail stamp. The letters were addressed to the office of the Post here, and the Post accepted the time of arrival of the letters as indicative of which mail service was the more speedy.

The two letters from Pennsylvania were mailed by the chief of police in Harrisburg 5:30 p. m. on June 27. The following day, both letters were received at the office of the Post at 9 a. m. from a money standpoint, the two-cent stamp bought as much speed in this case as the five-cent stamp.

The air mail test letters from nine states of the country came into the Post Office behind the regular letters, in the cases of Arkansas, Kansas, Mississippi, Missouri, and Wisconsin, the air mail letters coming in as much as twenty-four hours behind the regular letters.

Pennsy Conductor In Four Wrecks Is Not One Bit Hurt

Conductor John W. Simpson, Of Manor, Seems To Have Charmed Life

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., July 17.—John W. Simpson, of Manor, conductor of the Pittsburgher, crack Pennsylvania flier which wrecked at Hillside, east of here, Tuesday, when the engine sideswiped a buckled freight car, had passed through his fourth train wreck and today lived to tell the tale.

Simpson was conductor on the Washington Express which figured in a wreck on the Cincinnati Limited at Gray Station in 1926, in which seventeen persons were killed. He also was a member of the crew wrecked at Gallitzin, east of Johnstown, several years ago, in which one man was killed and in another wreck of Train No. 2 at Gallitzin. He was uninjured in any of the crashes.

A special car of officials arrived at the scene of the wreck near Hillside, in which the engineer was killed and the fireman hurt. A thorough probe was to be made, it was learned, of the theory that the great number of cars in the freight caused it to buckle over onto the track on which the Pittsburgher was running.

Chicago physicians will permit patients to be sick on the installment plan. Cramer, however, will continue to demand cash for sudden death.—The Ann Arbor Daily News.

Topics Of Vital Interest Discussed At Conference

Conference Hall Filled To Overflowing At Meeting At Etna Mineral Springs

Standing room was at a premium last night at the Etna Mineral Springs Bible conference. A large audience which filled the conference hall and overflowed into all the available space round about listened intently to two strong defenses of vital doctrines of the Christian faith. George M. Landis, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, was the first speaker and discussed the subject, "Can An Intelligent Person Believe the Miracles?" Several ancient and modern objections to the Scriptural record of the miracles were examined by the speaker and their fallacies indicated. "It is either accept the miracles or reject the Bible," asserted the preacher.

Rev. Bert Williams, pastor of the First Baptist church of Ellwood City, then gave an unusually strong message on the subject, "Is the Virgin Birth An Essential Doctrine of the Christian Faith?" After quoting some current utterances of noted preachers and theologians, who reject the virgin birth of Jesus, the speaker by unanswerable argument proved that the doctrine of the virgin birth is absolutely essential to Christianity. Numerous reasons were mentioned by the speaker to prove his point; but the three arguments developed were these: the virgin birth is essential to fulfill the prophetic word; to provide a proper king to sit on David's throne, and to provide a proper and adequate Redeemer for the human race.

The song service was led by Pastor P. A. Childs of the Emmanuel Baptist church. Prayer was offered by Rev. C. C. Mahoney of the Croton Methodist church. Special musical features included a trombone solo by Mr. Moon and a soprano solo by Miss Nina Jenkins. It was announced that, because of the unusual interest of the people attending the conference, a short Bible study would be given each evening before the main scheduled address. At the afternoon session a strong devotional message on prayer was given by Dean Embury of the Western Pennsylvania Bible school of Pittsburgh. This evening the main address will be given by Rev. C. C. Mahoney of the Croton avenue Methodist church, who will speak on "Atonement—Not Without Blood." Thursday afternoon Pastor A. L. Warren of the Harlansburg Baptist church will speak on "Personal Evangelism," and in the evening Rev. Bert Williams will discuss the question, "If Christ Had Not Risen, What Then?"

Harrington, 50, manager of the office on the first floor. "Did you want to go upstairs," one of the quartet asked? "Why yes," Harrington replied. "Well run it yourself," called the four men as they hurried to the street.

Hotel To Become Lodge For Men

Innovation In This Line Is Planned At New Wilmington

HOTEL BUILDING IS REMODELED

Within the next few weeks Hotel Newhammock at New Wilmington, for a long time one of the outstanding hostelrys of this section of the country, will have ceased to exist as such, and in its place there will be Wyatt Lodge, something new and rather unusual, according to W. R. Campbell, owner of the property.

Wyatt Lodge in its new capacity is designed as a home for men. Twenty guests will be the limit of the place. Improvements and changes have been made in the former hotel. The office on the main floor has been made over into a lounge room. The west porch has been improved with a new concrete floor and will be equipped with comfortable summer furniture for the guests.

The homelike atmosphere will be carried out everywhere, in the rooms the dining room. In case of sickness there will be provision made for nurses and all the care of home. In the dining room a novel feature to be instituted is that of one large family table at which all the guests will be seated for meals.

The improvements for the place include new steel ceilings wherever most serviceable. There has also been a new heating system of the latest design installed. The laundry in the cellar will be newly equipped.

Other changes made in the hotel building not designed as a part of Wyatt Lodge, are a large one story brick addition in the rear of the former living room of the hotel. It is 32 by 56 feet in size and this joined with the former living room by two large arches will be the future home of the Campbell furniture store. This is floored with maple and finished in the best of style. This addition has been erected and is supported by gigantic steel beams, that will permit the construction of additional stories. In the rear of the store is the new brick garage 20 by 94 feet, where goods may be loaded and unloaded under cover and any necessary work done.

The porch at the southwest corner has been removed and the basement improved for business purposes, a service station being added.

The improvements also include a public comfort station for men and women. There are also numerous other features to the building that will add to the attractiveness of the place.

SELLING IT ABROAD

The American board of commissioners for foreign missions announces the appointment of 51 new missionaries. They will go to China, India, Africa, the Philippines, and elsewhere. Many doubt the value of missions. It is said we do not appreciate the worth of other religions in comparison with our own. Attention is called to Buddhism, Confucianism and other faiths older than Christianity. The fact remains we have developed some phases of life in the western world that serve and enlighten and make life comfortable for more people than any development in the far east has been able to do. Leaders and scholars in the Orient are highly civilized. They know much about life and how to live it. The rank and file—millions—are living at low levels. Millions are in want and misery. Comfort is not widely distributed, as it is in the western world. There is no doubt that missionaries from the United States and other western countries have something to sell the far east—something in the way of a more abundant life. If we do not believe in missions and missionaries, we do not believe in our kind of civilization. Let us at least be honest about our beliefs.

are easily forgotten. Some figures tell a story and they are important. For example, in a recent week there were 66,000 more cars of freight loaded than in the corresponding week last year. Altogether there were more than a million cars loaded. This speaks volumes for business, for trade, for merchandising, for prosperity. Not even the small cloud of hard times can be seen over the horizon of the United States of America.

Governors Discuss Enforcement Issue

Governors Contend That States Will Do Their Part If Aided By Federal Bureau

George W. Wickersham, Chairman Of Crime Commission Addresses Governors

By JAMES KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
GROTON, Conn., July 17.—From the five issues of prohibition and crime, the conference of governors to-day switched to consideration of the more sedate subject of taxation, but privately among the delegates they were discussing the Volstead law, and very little else.

For George W. Wickersham, chairman of President Hoover's crime commission, had given them something to talk about when, in a letter read at the conference, he proposed that the states share the burden of the federal government in the enforcement of prohibition. He suggested that the prohibition laws be changed to turn "wholesale" enforcement over to the federal government and "retail" enforcement—against the speakeasies and bootleggers—to the states.

Kansas in Line.
"I agree wholeheartedly with Mr. Wickersham's suggestion which seems sound to me," Governor Clyde M. Reed of Kansas said in an interview with International News Service this morning. "So far as Kansas is concerned, however, the situation is precisely the reverse of what he suggests. In Kansas 90 per cent of the burden of enforcement is carried by the state. If the federal government will do in Kansas what Mr. Wickersham suggests—that is, attend to preventing the importation, manufacture and shipment of intoxicants into the state—we will do the rest. And I am sure that there are other states in a similar position."

The main difficulty in enforcing prohibition in our state is the stopping of the flow of booze from the outside. Our jails are full of bootleggers. We have arrested 250 bootleggers in the last six months and have captured a number of big stills. We have been reasonably successful in Kansas in our efforts to enforce the Volstead law.

"I realize there is a great deal of agitation against prohibition, particularly in states that have large cities such as New York and Chicago. But I feel sure that the sentiment of the farm people and townspeople is for prohibition for economic as well as moral reasons."

Other governors were more or less non-committal on Mr. Wickersham's suggestion. Governor Henry S. Caulfield of Missouri said the suggestion was "interesting and constructive" but he would like to have time to mull it over before committing himself. Governor John Hammill of Iowa regarded the suggestion as constructive, being in favor of any action that would result in stricter enforcement of the dry law.
"We are intent on enforcing our laws in our own way in our state," was the comment of Governor John H. Trumbull of Connecticut.
Gov. George H. Dern, Utah, said Mr. Wickersham's proposal to split the job of enforcing prohibition between the state and the federal government is logical but he wondered if it would be practical. "Will it not mean merely a continuance of the prevailing situation, some states dry, others wet?" he asked.

Carolina Needs Aid.
Governor Charles Richards of South Carolina said his state would like to have all the assistance possible from the federal government. Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland reserved comment, declaring that he intended to say something on the subject at the governors' round table discussion.
Beyond discussing the Wickersham suggestion at the round table meeting there is little likelihood that the governors will take any action on the subject. For one thing the prohibition issue is full of political dynamite. And furthermore it is the policy of the governors at their annual session not to adopt any resolution of a controversial nature.

Indian Village Day At Boy Scout Camp

Activities At Camp John M. Phillips Numerous On Tuesday

Tuesday was officially recognized in camp as Indian village day. The six boys who are members of the tribe of Wakichonze spent the entire day in the village, cooking their own meals and following a special program of Indian lore and games under the leadership of their chief, Harry Ueber, who is known as Chief White Bear. The program of the boys included special swimming privileges, boating, archery and special instructions in Indian craftsmanship. The meals cooked by the boys were excellent and in all probability would have made the ordinary Indian think it was feast day.

Special instruction in Junior Red Cross life-saving was given during the morning by Harry Zeigler, life guard of the camp, to the following group of boys, William Grommes, Nat Book, Milton Caplan, Bill Minter, Dan Ryan, William McBurney, Charles Zeigler and Jack Marshall. Harold Aggas, who has assisted in wiring various buildings about the camp, completed the requirements today for a merit badge in electricity.
Clyde Shannon, a member of the European jamboree group, was the guest of honor at a picnic held in camp today by the members of his Sunday school class from the First Presbyterian church. Dean Staley was in charge of the party, which included Bob Aiken, Bill McBurney, Bud Long, Bud Gordon, Bud Wagner, Bob Macgill, Wilbert Martin and Morgan Davis. The boys went swimming with the campers and took part in many of the camp activities.

Raymond Bennett, one of the latest arrivals in camp, is taking to the water like a duck, and Mr. Zeigler reports that he is becoming quite proficient in diving. Hut Goehring won inspection today with a high score. Boys in the hut are Milton Caplan, Ray Bennett, Carlton Barnes, Nat Book, Bob Allen, Herb McLure and William Grommes.
Color guards selected for the evening ceremony as the nearest appearing Scouts were Dan Ryan, Wilbur Weisbaker and Lee Shirley. A victrola donated to the camp by Ed. White was put in use today and is a source of enjoyment to the boys.

Tests passed Friday were: first-class cooking, Bill Beyers, Alvie Klein, diest and Edward Vinroe; merit badge in electricity, Harold Aggas. Scaps were awarded at colors by Camp Director, LeRoy M. Norton: wayseeker to James Daily and Bill Swick; pathfinder to Laverne Carlson; runner to Bill Bayers and John Babcock.

Lions Club Men, Wives, Families And Friends Stage Lakewood Picnic

Members of the New Castle Lions club and their wives, children and friends held an enjoyable picnic yesterday at Lakewood Beach. Baseball, bathing, boating and horseshoe-pitching were the pastimes of the afternoon and dancing provided enjoyment during the evening.

Lion Anthony Marino was chairman of the committee in charge while William Mayberry, John Ellison and their wives assisted. Home runs were scored by E. D. Marvin, A. H. Bartlett, T. L. Nixon, Dr. B. M. Rogers and M. L. Babcock. Attorney A. L. Shumaker excelled at third base. Peter Gritie and G. W. May were the batteries. Dr. W. C. Mechem umpired.
W. O. "Red" Williams got scratched up while sliding over the pebbles to home plate, the only marring feature of the game.

Lion Ed. Connelly gave a demonstration of his diving and swimming prowess while A. J. Rees and "Bill" Mayberry staged a water battle which ended in a draw.
The Lionsesses and their friends were entertained by the Lions chorus, directed by "Red" Williams. In the horseshoe-pitching contest Dr. T. M. Shaffer and W. L. Pander suffered defeat by C. J. Streib and M. V. Hyde. Browne K. Thacker called the dances during the evening.

More New Currency Will Arrive Today

Approximately $20,000 Is Expected To Be Shipped To Banks Of City

Approximately $20,000 more in new currency was expected by the local banks at noon today, as their allotment from the Federal Reserve banks, and a considerable amount of the new money will be in circulation here soon, bankers indicated.
The banks received slightly more than had been expected in their initial shipments last week, only about $10,000 having been anticipated, whereas about twice that sum was received. It has been learned.
By the end of this week about $50,000 of the new bills will be in the hands of New Castle citizens.

Sheriff Featuring Infants In Jail

If any more infants are admitted to the Lawrence County jail, Sheriff Buck Reynolds will be in shape to write a couple of books on "The Care and Feeding of Infants," or perhaps "Colic, Its Cause and Effect."
Another infant was added to the jail roster when the year old baby of a colored woman was taken to her care. Now the sheriff is wondering if his bath of office includes walking the floor with them if they develop somnambulism.

Gets Her Man!

He's 15,000 Years Old And The Talk Of Paris

By ROY J. GIBBONS
(Central Press Staff Writer)
CHICAGO, July 17.—Dr. Ida Treast, paleontologist, and her "man" are the talk of gay Paris.

She hunted him for years, it is authentically stated, worked literally with pick and shovel for him. He's her man.
Probably he's not the type most women would care about, but, then, Dr. Treast is a paleontologist, one of the few women engaged in that profession in the world, and her man's the apple of her eye.

He's old, very old, and most of his teeth are gone, but what a man! Even Dr. Treast doesn't know his exact age, although she says there is no question but what he is at least 15,000 years old—but well preserved, you understand.

Found in Pyrenees
The doctor dug him out of the Pyrenees in Spain, recently and brought him to Paris, according to word received by friends here. Temporarily, he's being put up at the Natural museum.
"He's an old man with most of his teeth gone," Dr. Treast explains. "I found him lying prone, an almost perfect skeleton, in a cave."

"Thousands of years ago the cave dwellers who lived in the painted caves of this region of the Pyrenees were mighty in size and far handsomer than the men of today."
It's a tale to cause comment even in Paris, the gayest city in the world. This story of Dr. Treast's hunt for her man. The paleontologist, who is Chicago born, and bred in Cleveland, crawled deep into the bowels of the mountains to make her find.

Dressed in a one-piece overall, a French beret, and bearing a small acetylene torch, Dr. Treast crawled into apertures that had not known the pressure of human hands and feet for a thousand centuries. Her fingers touched bones, stone implements, the teeth of men and animals, as she labored.

Teeth Tell Secrets
"A tooth," she says, "is always a pleasant surprise. You can tell all sorts of things from teeth. In my work I have found all kinds and conditions of teeth, including teeth carved out of ivory, used as ornaments thousands of years ago."

In the end she unearthed her man. Somewhat weathered, worn, he was, as a result of his 15,000 years of lying there, but a man of which to be proud. That is, if you are a paleontologist.
"Forty thousand years ago men and women were huge in physique," says Dr. Treast. "Women had a brain capacity superior to the men of today, but in the next 10,000 years both men and women deteriorated."

Dr. Treast has been a resident of Paris for nine years and has been affiliated with Marcellin Boule, an eminent anthropologist. For five years she was associate professor of romance languages at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, and later received a second doctor's degree at the University of Paris, whence her diving career began.

Dr. Treast is of the type that Anita Loos says gentlemen prefer. She has blue eyes that laugh at the adventures she has been through in the pursuit of her man—most women would say "wild"—profession. In the scientific world of Paris she is an important figure.

And her "man" has added largely to her laurels. You may hear of him Dressed in the Montparnasse. He's an object of interest to the Academie Française. What a boy friend! But, then, really, and after all, it's all a matter of personal taste.

French Cabinet Weathers Storm

By FREDERICK K. ABBOTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 17.—Premier Poincaré's government weathered another storm today in the chamber of deputies debate upon ratification of the Mellon-Berenger (Franco-American) was debt agreement when a socialist motion pledging the government to Rhineland evacuation was rejected. The vote was 350 to 238.

This motion, which was offered by Deputy Blum, a socialist, proposed the war debt issue be shelved unless the Poincaré government promises evacuation of the Rhineland shall immediately follow adoption of the young plan for reparations payments. When chamber debate was renewed upon the measure to ratify the Mellon-Berenger war debt agreement, Premier Poincaré was not present. He was slightly indisposed owing to the heavy strain he has been under during the past week in connection with this issue.

Supporters of the Poincaré cabinet were confident that the chamber would ratify the war debt accord without the reservations making French payments conditional upon the receipt of German reparations payments by France from Germany, it is possible, however, that these reservations may be adopted separately without being made part of the text of the ratification measure.

Incendiarism Seen In Fire Which Burns Off Side Of Old Structure

Fire, which is believed to have been started by an incendiary, caused damage of approximately $500, to an old structure on Bridge street owned by the John Travers heirs and occupied by George Taylor and family.
Three departments were called to the scene by an alarm from Box 15 at 11:05, and when the firemen arrived on the scene, they found the entire side of the structure ablaze, with the flames spreading to the roof and into the attic.

It was extinguished after a stubborn fight by the firemen. Fire Chief Charles H. Lynn stated this morning that indications pointed to the building have been set afire from the outside.

$300,000 Goal Is Attained In Cathedral Drive

Report Submitted By Teams Last Evening Falls Short $8,000 Of Mark

SEEK $100,000 MORE DURING REST OF MONTH

Team captains and workers in the Cathedral Refinancing campaign virtually made good their promise to attain the $300,000 goal set at the meeting the week previous, when they brought the total amount to $294,000, after a week of hard campaigning, according to their report submitted last evening.
Reports today from some of the outside zones were expected to swell the mark to the coveted goal, and the promise was confidently accepted as meaning the $300,000 mark would be recorded before nightfall.

Following the reports of the local team workers last evening a goal of $400,000 was set as the figure which would be reached by the New Castle and outside districts by August 1, and next Tuesday evening's report will be accepted as a test of the ability of the workers to keep good their promise.

Another $100,000 is expected to be reached during the month of August, after which plans will be laid for rounding out the other $500,000 of the million dollar goal now accepted as being sufficient to pay every debt of the Cathedral except the first mortgage.

During the past week, the team workers have raised $45,000 in Western Pennsylvania. Of this amount, $19,000 was subscribed by New Castle masons, the rest being raised outside of the city.

REVOLUTIONARY IN 1924—STILL MORE SO TODAY

APR 19 1924

"It was inevitable that Chrysler should attract a degree of scientific interest accorded no other car in the past fifteen years. + + Engineers, naturally, were first to appreciate that Chrysler, while adhering strictly to soundest principles of design, is a distinct departure from previous motor car practice and performance. + + They recognize in Chrysler an advance in automobile engineering as revolutionary as the development of the X-ray in medicine."

—Advertisement Literary Digest April 19, 1924

HOW HAS CHRYSLER DONE IT?

When an unknown motor car sets out—as Chrysler did—to grasp the leadership of a great industry, and with the speed of a meteor, sweeps to a foremost position in popularity and sales, it must possess extraordinary quality and ability. Certainly no other motor car has come so swiftly, so impressively, to the front in such a remarkably short time as Chrysler has come.

When the first Chrysler car was placed on exhibition five years ago, the whole industry looked in amazement at what Walter P. Chrysler had accomplished. Within four years, Chrysler had leaped to third place in the industry.

How has Chrysler done it? What is the secret of this success? Simply that Chrysler gave in the beginning—each year since has given increasingly—and today gives in still greater measure—not only a finer grade of basic quality but a higher order of performance, beauty, style, power, acceleration, safety, comfort—all at most reasonable prices.

Such sweeping success must prove inevitably to the buyer of a Chrysler car today that he can count on the most advanced, the soundest, the safest and the most satisfying motor transportation his money can command. Let us prove these facts in a demonstration.

Bo-Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press

NEW YORK, July 17.—Willie Winter is New York's big boss wrecker. When you have a building you want to come down, you phone for Willie and he does the rest.

Some years ago Mr. Delmonico, the Fifth Avenue Soup and Fish Man, decided to take down his shingle and shake off the excess that, instead of a gravy parlor, Willie Winter purchased the famous (let migion studio, wrecked it, and laboring under the delusion that he had bought the name, along with the place, decided he might as well wreck the name while he was about it. So he opened up a fishball studio of his own in the more or less patrician purlieus of Park Avenue, and called the joint "Delmonico's."

The Delmonico family hailed Willie to court where he has been stopped by a judicial owl from hamburgering the clan's ancient and honorable Nose Bag Monicker.

HIS HISTORY

Willie landed here twenty years ago, an impetuous immigrant with one pair of pants and a wild desire to succeed. Everyone around him was building. Willie was always "different." He decided to tear down. In the last five years he has demolished the Astor mansion at 65th Street and Fifth Avenue, the twin Vanderbilt coops at 53rd Street and Fifth Avenue and numerous other ponderous piles of less distinction. And the marble bathtubs, great mosaic foyers, carved panels, Florentine mantles and art places that once adorned the mansions Willie wrecked, now add grandeur to the garish interiors of the Westchester homes of one-time pants pressers turned movie magnates.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

"Winter" may or may not be Willie's honest-to-goodness patronymic appellation. Names don't mean much in the Capital of the Commonplace. Monsieur Raeburn is the head of Lord & Taylor's. Signor Leonaco, runs the firm known as Arnold Constable. Herr Strauss is the Poon Bah of Macy's. Brother Friedsam dominates the destinies of Altman's. Messrs. Weber & Heilbroner operate a shop that does business under the name of Brokaw Brothers. Mr. Schultze, the cigar, cigarette, candy, perfume and lipstick sultan, is head of Park & Tilford, also a Fifth Avenue shop called Dunhill's—Where the lighters come from.

Sometimes, at night, when I can't sleep, I get out of bed, kneel down in my nightshirt, and thank God that Mr. Carter still rolls his own pills.

HE COULDN'T SUICIDE

Twenty policemen working 40 hours in eight-hour shifts, pumped 185 tanks of oxygen into the hide of a discouraged Wop who tried to take the Gas Route from New York to the New Jerusalem. Four chemists put in 24 hours overtime preparing the 4,623 cubic yards of oxygen and the 20 cops who did the pumping lost six pounds weight apiece.

In New York suicide is regarded as a slur on the town.

YES, WHY DON'T YOU GO?

Sammy Lionel Rothafel, better known as "Roxy" of Roxy's theater, was 47 year old the other day. A newspaper reporter went up to interview the great man, who said: "You know, what I would like to do is to live long enough to do it. I would like to live to see the day when I could throw all cares aside and go away some place in a little flat-bottom boat. And there, in that boat, I could sit under a big sun-bonnet with a little old fishing pole and I could sit all day and fish for sunfish and perch."

STREET SCENE

Brokers crowding the soda counter of a candy shop a block from the Stock Exchange. A cop holding up traffic to let a cat dart across Broadway in safety. A blind panhandler on 42nd Street peddling lead pencils in tailor-made clothes. A well known pickpocket edging through the crowds, slipping a beggar a dime "for luck."

The Story Of The World War
62nd British and German Divisions

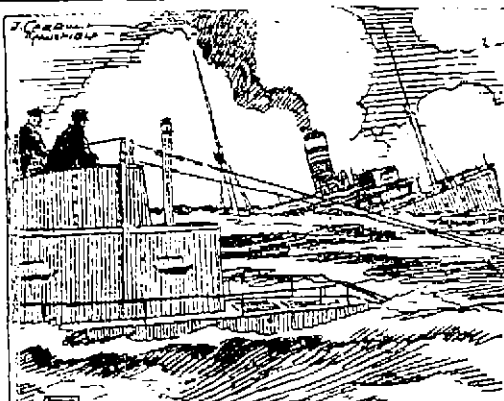

THE RIGID BLOCKADE BY WHICH THE ALLIES SOUGHT TO KEEP SUPPLIES FROM REACHING THE CENTRAL POWERS PROVED A HANDSHIP TO THE COMMERCE OF NEUTRAL NATIONS AND DREW SHARP PROTESTS FROM THE UNITED STATES. THE LIST OF ARTICLES CLASSIFIED AS CONTRABAND WAS ENLARGED BY THE BRITISH UNTIL ALL SUPPLIES DESTINED FOR GERMANY WERE LIABLE TO SEIZURE.

THE BRITISH ESTABLISHED NARROW SEA LINES BY WHICH NEUTRAL SHIPS COULD PASS THROUGH THE BLOCKADE TO THE NEUTRAL COUNTRIES OF HOLLAND, DENMARK, NORWAY AND SWEDEN, BUT MAINTAINED THE RIGHT TO SEARCH ALL SUCH VESSELS FOR CONTRABAND. TO PREVENT SUPPLIES FROM REACHING GERMANY THROUGH THE NEUTRAL NATIONS MENTIONED ABOVE, GREAT BRITAIN ADOPTED THE DRASTIC MEASURE OF LIMITING THEIR IMPORTS.

THE GERMANS TRIED EQUALLY HARD TO PREVENT COMMODITIES REACHING THE BRITISH ISLES, WHICH WERE ALMOST ENTIRELY DEPENDENT UPON THE OUTSIDE WORLD FOR FOOD. THE GERMANS WERE FORCED TO RELY UPON THEIR SUBMARINES TO DESTROY ALLIED COMMERCE. AT FIRST THE SUBMARINE WARNED ITS INTENDED VICTIM AND ALLOWED TIME FOR PASSENGERS AND CREW TO TAKE TO THE LIFEBOATS.

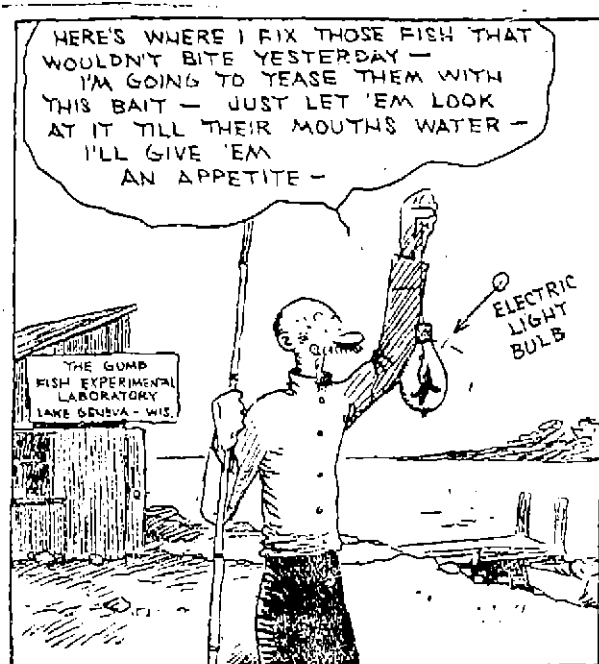

LATER, THE GERMANS BEGAN SINKING MERCHANTMEN WITHOUT WARNING, DECLARING THAT WHEN WARNING WAS GIVEN, A SHIP FREQUENTLY TRIED TO ESCAPE OR RAM ITS ASSAILANT. IT SOMETIMES HAPPENED THAT AMERICANS WERE TRAVELING ON THESE DOOMED SHIPS, AND THIS DISREGARD OF THE SAFETY OF NEUTRALS AROUSED A BITTER CONTROVERSY BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND GERMANY.

A telegram from Edward J. McAuley of Cleveland, Ohio, brother of the red-headed Ralph McAuley, New Castle High grid star, today set at rest rumors that the fleet-footed buckeye man would not play for New Castle High this fall.

McAuley had the misfortune to run into the fangs of a spider while vacationing at a cottage near Cleveland, and suffered a badly infected arm, but the doctors say that the "red-head" will be in shape for football before the football camp opens. The arm was badly inflamed and it was feared for a time that the infection would spread, but the injured member has responded to treatment and McAuley is now on the way to recovery.

Is Fine Player
Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh is planning on using McAuley at quarterback this year. The youngster last season played a fine brand of football for New Castle High as a half-back. His speed and agility are recognized, and he is a feared man. While the signal barking job is new to him, McAuley is expected to fill satisfactorily the shoes left vacant by Arthur Sillman.

There have been any number of rumors spreading around the city that McAuley had forsaken New Castle, and that Bridenbaugh would have to get along minus the "flaming youth" this fall, but the telegram sets at rest all such rumors. Following is the telegram received at The News today:

"Bugs Walter, Football Editor, New Castle News:

Fear that Ralph McAuley might not be able to give his best to the New Castle High School football team this fall was dissipated Wednesday by a telegram to The News from Cleveland, where McAuley has been spending his vacation. The fleet-footed red head, whom Coach Bridenbaugh is grooming for quarterback duties, suffered an infection in his right arm when he was bitten by a spider at a summer cottage.

Inflammation spread rapidly until the arm was opened, but McAuley's physician reports that the wound will heal quickly and the arm will be in shape for forward passing long before practice sessions begin.

McAuley will return to New Castle in a few days.

Signed,
EDWARD J. McAULEY,
Cleveland News."

In Game Against Slovaks

The Italian A. A. will meet the last in the second-half of the Lawrence County League race, tomorrow evening, at Centennial Field, when they clash with the fast Penny team. The game will start at 6:30 o'clock.

Carm Sacco, said today that Shields would likely adorn the mound for the Italians, which means that if the youngsters is right, that the P. R. boys are going to find the going tough.

Ladies will be admitted free tomorrow evening at Centennial Field. The caliber of baseball being shown at the present time by both clubs should be the means of drawing a big crowd to the ball park.

Tin Mill Beats News

The Shenango Tin Mill mushball team took another victory from the New Castle News team, last night at Colonial field. The News were 16 to 7.

A comedy of errors in the first inning, by the News boys allowed the tin wallopers to score eleven runs, after the first chapter. The News looked like a million-dollar outfit, in ability to slug the ball consistently.

The News team was greeted by a barrage of hits in the first inning, but after the first stanza the Tin Mill found him hard to solve. Finch had a home run for the News in the first inning as one of the features of the game. Conway in left field for the News played his customary fine game, making a number of sensational catches of hard hit liners. A switch in the infield for the News did wonders, Patterson playing a fine game at third. Graham was a power at first for the News. The playing of Fraser, McBride, Parker and the pitching of Shalke was the best for the Tin Mill.

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh Is Not Losing Any Sleep Over Grid Problem

New Castle High Will Have

Fine Eleven This Year;

Material Is Good

By "BUGS" WALTER

Mr. Philip H. Bridenbaugh, head coach at New Castle Senior High School, is not one bit worried. It just wouldn't be his nature to lose any sleep over the coming football campaign, regardless of what rumors have been spreading over the city, in the past few days.

Dame Rumor has it, that several of the stars of last year, notwithstanding graduation, etc., will be among the missing when it comes time to trot out to Muddy Creek Falls, for annual camp training. What of it?

Other stars have graduated, and still New Castle High has gone right ahead and played football. New Castle has not had a lean year for sometime.

To be sure the eight semester ruling, and the 20-year age limit are going to have some effect, but other schools will be just as hard hit as the locals.

The program, and it is a fine one, outlined by Faculty Manager, Ralph H. Gardner, last spring, calls for New Castle High to be the opponents for Grove City High, at Franklin Stadium, on Saturday September 21, and the High School gridlers will be ready.

Tough Schedule
New Castle High School is undertaking the toughest schedule they have had in the past few years. It is safe to surmise that neither Bridenbaugh nor Gardner would have sanctioned such a stiff program if they had thought for one minute that the material would not be up to "snuff."

In the opinion of your correspondent, the outlook is not as rosy as it has been in other years, but confidence in Bridenbaugh to "come through" offsets the gloom.

The Junior High Schools of New Castle, Franklin, Washington, and Mahoning, are going to supply a lot of valuable material. It was a fortunate stroke of organization of Junior High Schools, the principal reason being a good sound modern education, but secondly it is the means of giving to the Senior High School thoroughly finished young students and athletes.

New Castle High will have a fine team this year, just mark that down in your little red book and ring it, and then look at it several months hence and see if your correspondent was having a pipe dream, or really was in the "know."

Loughran Faces Tough Battle In Yankee Stadium

James J. Braddock May Upset Dope In Bout With Champion Tomorrow Night

Track Stars On

Way To Europe

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 17.—Four of America's premier track and field athletes will sail on the President Roosevelt today to compete in several meets in Europe. They are Dick Rockaway, Ohio State hurdler; Lee Lermund of Boston, National mile champion; Fred Sturdy of Yale, National pole vault champion; and Lee Sexton, Georgetown's all-around star.

Eddie Tolson, crack negro sprinter of Michigan, and Pete Bowen of Pittsburgh, National quarter-mile champion, will sail on Friday and join the other four men abroad.

Tomorrow night they meet in the Yankee stadium in a 15-round battle on which the betting has been unusually favorable, but by the time the climb through the ropes the challenger may be installed as the first choice.

Loughran, who prepared for the defense of his crown at Paulino Uzcudun's Moosic Falls camp, has passed up his intention to fly to the scene of action. Instead, he made the journey to Ossining, N. Y., this morning in a more prosaic manner—a railroad train.

He will remain at the home of a friend in that city until tomorrow morning, when he will again board a train and come into the city for the weighing in ceremonies.

Braddock, the challenger, who trained at Tom Luther's White Sulphur Springs camp, is visiting his parents in Union City, N. J., today.

By QUIN HALL

Is James J. Braddock of Jersey good enough to defeat Champion Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia at the light heavyweight limit?

This is the question which is bothering the fistic fans today. Tomorrow night in New York this pair clash for the title. It is well known that Loughran for some time has been trading punches with some of the boys who ride the beam in the heavyweight class. Undoubtedly he can still white himself down to the light heavyweight poundage but... what will it take from him in the way of speed and effectiveness? That's what the boys who rest their chins around the rosin-covered canvas would like to know.

Braddock is not a set-up—even for a champion who has shown the class exhibited by Loughran. Jimmie has done everything that has been asked of him and tomorrow night—weather permitting—he is getting his shot at the jolly jar of fame. James J. is clever and he can sock down opposition.

Loughran is exceedingly skilled at boxing, but he has never shown that he could knock out fairly good opponents. He's clever and he can take

Tourney Today

(International News Service)
SCOTTDALE, Pa., July 17.—The former Scottsdale Atlantic League catcher, Jack Smith, now of New York, today had established a reputation as a slugging heavyweight boxer. They counted ten over Pat Collins, Jersey City, Smith's opponent, in the second round last night.

Eddie Anderson, Scottsdale, won decision over Joe Todd, Donora, in six rounds; Tommy Hellman, Donora won likewise from Johnny Dodge, Eversong; Scotty Graham, Donora, won in four rounds from Frankie Ellis, Monessen.

Both have fought twice here and each encounter teamed with action plus.

One of the battles was so fierce that after an erroneous decision had been reported, to be corrected later, a riot almost occurred.

It was the Wolgast-Grande fight, and what a battle it was. Wolgast beat Grande, but he had to fight to do it.

Prior to that Mr. Grande had taken on the arduous Dodge, Willie Davies, and the Charleroi boxing master had his hands full.

Always Busy
And Carpenter? That boy knows his stuff. If he isn't leaping, he's sneaking in, and he's fighting all of the time.

He slammed Ernie Peters, the Red-skin, at the bowl, then took on Davies, and each encounter was "pep and punch" for 10 rounds.

Realizing that the flyweights give action plus and are always ready and in shape, it was decided to mate two Filipinos.

All kind of difficulty was encountered, as Filipinos are similar to brats.

Everybody knows that a neighbor's son would fare quite well in a fight, but put two brothers together—them experience teaches.

In a measure the battle here might be called a titular affair between the brown boys, as they are the best Filipinos in their class.

Grande and Carpenter can punch. They can take it. There is no question of their heart, and both have unquenchable stamina.

Riot of Action
The semi-final also will be a riot of action, as two decidedly good junior-lightweights are matched.

They are Sammy Lupica, Toledo, and Sammy Harris, Akron. Harris has romped two victories here and he had space to spare.

No one will fight Eddie Reed at Victorio hasn't chosen a sap for himself tonight.

Is From Argentine
Of course, if he is as good as they say he is, then this Argentine is better than Firpo and it doesn't make any difference whom he chooses neither does it matter much how big he is. The notion came into Vogue after Willard's debacle that the man who weighed more than 210 pounds and exceeded two inches over six feet was too big to fight. Godfrey changed all that. I don't know how much fighting he does but one thing I'll guarantee. He isn't too big to win.

Give these big ones speed, as Campolo is said to have, and stake them to a punch in both hands, another of his alleged assets, and there isn't the slightest reason for them to go wrong. Johnson didn't and he looked bigger than a baboon in there.

The latter's approval of Campolo, by the way, may be significant in that it contained a comparison with Firpo, to the latter's detriment. Johnson worked daily with Firpo before the Milk Fund Show of 1922 and almost made a fighter of him. The old champion, therefore, ought to have a pretty good line on Luis. I hope, for the sake of a little excitement around here, that his line on Victorio isn't a gossamer thread.

Nobody, as a matter of fact, really knows much about the hombre. He was quite a man as an amateur heavyweight and recently he knocked off Roberto Roberti. Still, if you don't do that, the rules say that the ball isn't in play and you have to go back and start all over again, with an added penalty of stroke and disqualification.

They are looking him to halt, abate, and otherwise discontinue De Kuhl in five rounds and, if he does that, Sharkey and Schmeling won't be able to hold their championship light without him. De Kuhl is only one of the chumps, of course, but it takes better than a chump to knock him unknocked. Sharkey couldn't do it in ten rounds just before the gripping encounter with Scribbling. So

There'll Be Riot Of Action In This Tilt

NEW YORK STOCKS

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 17.—Fairly aggressive buying went ahead during the first two hours of the stock market today for principal industrial issues, notably the coppers and merchandising and motion picture shares. The gains recorded by them were substantial. The rails for the most part were irregular, reflecting the diversion of interest from them back into other sections of the list, and the oils dragged as a result of the cut in Pennsylvania crude oil prices and another new high record in crude oil production this week.

Call money renewed at 12 per cent. Farm implement stocks were features of early trading. International Harvester mounted 3 1/2 points to 117 1/2, its best price for all time, and J. I. Case jumped 11 points. Kennecott led the coppers with a 2 point rise to 85 1/2. Anaconda was up about that at 113 1/2. Miami improved a point or so to 41 1/2.

The retreat of a large short interest built up in the copper stocks on reports of a possible reduction in the price of the metal largely accounted for the strength in that division today.

Stock trading was quiet in the second hour, with a steady public utility shares forced back moderately by profit taking and speculative selling. United States Steel dropped off a point to 201 1/2 and Consolidated Gas lost 2 points at 149. Motor stocks were well bought and more support was extended to the oils.

Burbank Club Plans Fall Flower Show

Mercer Horticulturists Are Looking Forward To Attractive Exhibition

MERCER, Pa., July 17.—The members of the Mercer Burbank club are now turning their attention to the culture of flowers for their Fall Flower show, which for the past two years has been one of the most attractive exhibits at the Mercer Fair. There will be a display of many different varieties of flowers, and the prospects are that this will be the largest show the club has ever had.

The order for tulips this year was 3000 larger than last. It is doubtful if there is a community in this section that can exult Mercer in the number and quality of the tulips grown. The club members alone will have between 30,000 and 40,000 tulips planted this fall.

Gifts Of $13,000,000 Given Presbyterians

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.—A total of $13,000,000 has been contributed to the permanent fund for the Presbyterian board of national missions by various donors, it was announced here today by the Presbyterian General Assembly headquarters.

The fund represents the accumulation of recent gifts and will form a basis for a definite yearly income to be used in the missionary field. It was stated.

The James N. Jarvis estate was the largest single contributor to the fund. Its gift totaled $3,000,000. Jarvis was formerly a member of the board's finance committee.
